BROKERS SAY THEY ARE NOT FOUND SHORT

Buyers of Nickel Hill Stock in Toronto Continue to Insist on Delivery

Canadian Press
Toronto, Jan. 20.—The most interesting stock brokers' battle ever waged in Toronto was nearing its climax to-day. Several members of the Standard Mining Exchange, alleged to be short 221 units of Nickel Hill, which are valued around $2,000,000 at prices quoted to-day, were supposed to be in conference deciding what action should be taken, according to The Toronto Star.

"Harry Lyons, leader of the interests holding the controlling stock of the syndicate, and his counsel, D. L. McCarthy, K.C., were withholding further statements or actions on the situation until after the brokers' meeting," the newspaper said.

"Writs are ready and may be served at once," The Star continued, "but brokers claim they are not short and they are not responsible."

DELIVERY ARRANGEMENTS

"By to-morrow," The Star continued, "brokers who are supposed to be short Nickel Hill units will likely have made arrangements for the delivery of the stock to the syndicate controlling the mine or will be forced with immediate court action."

Conference Delegates

Talk With King George

London, Jan. 20.—King George, who will open the Naval Disarmament Conference here to-morrow, to-day received all the delegates to the conference at Buckingham Palace.

London, Jan. 20.—The following official report on this morning's meeting of the naval delegates at No. 10 Downing Street was issued by the Foreign Office this afternoon:

"At an informal meeting at No. 10 Downing Street this morning at which all of the principal delegates to the London Naval Conference were present, the procedure for the conference was discussed and the following proposals adopted:

"1.—That the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom should be elected chairman of the conference at the opening plenary meeting on Tuesday, January 21, and that on conclusion of the speeches there, the conference should be adjourned until 10 a.m. Thursday, January 23, when it would reconvene at St. James's Palace.

"Wednesday would be devoted to the consultations between the various delegations.

COMMITTEE TO BE NAMED

"2.—The agenda for the meeting January 23, should consist of (a) appointment of the secretary-general of the conference and a committee consisting of all the delegates to carry out the main work of the conference, and, (b), a general statement by heads of the delegations of the needs of their countries."

HATRY TRIAL

DRAWS CROWD

London, Jan. 20.—A long queue waited outside the Old Bailey in vain to-day to witness the opening of the trial of Clarence Charles Hatry and his companions on charges of alleged financial frauds involving about $10,000,000.

The courtroom was crowded to overflowing, many of those present being persons who had suffered as a result of the Hatry manipulations.

SKATERS ENJOY SPLENDID ICE

Steel Blade Enthusiasts Have Choice of Many Fine Sheets

Thousands of Ducks in Small Opening in Elk Lake to Maintain Unfrozen Sanctuary

Hundreds of skaters availed themselves of the fine ice on the many lakes and ponds around Victoria yesterday and from early morning until darkness large numbers glided over Beaver Lake, Swan Lake, Portage Inlet, Beacon Hill, and Langford Lake. Many swamps and small ponds were also magnets for skaters.

Some of the best ice now available is at Langford Lake. Yesterday there were a few skaters on the ice and those who enjoyed the fine sheet declared it was the best they have seen on this year. Practically the entire lake is covered with ice and the end has been roped off, the ice being a little thinner at this portion. A large section of the ice has been roped off for a rink and light will be focused on it in the evenings for the benefit of skaters.

Beaver Lake presented a busy scene all day yesterday. Besides the hundreds of skaters on the ice there were many others who drove to the lake-side just to watch the people skating. With a strong wind sweeping the lake, a number of the young skaters introduced a novel idea. Stating to one end of the lake against the wind they stretched a blanket out as a sail and glided merrily to the other end.

Parts of Elk Lake proved popular with some of the skaters. Crowds passing stopped cars by the roadside and small sections to watch thousands of ducks which had kept one small circle clear of ice by their continual movement and evidently found food for a rink and light will be focused on it in the evenings for the benefit of skaters.

At Beaver Lake a well-made ice yacht created great interest and lots of fun for the owner.

Referendum on Liquor in U.S. Now Is Urged

Canadian Press

Washington, Jan. 20.—Asserting that "as an experiment, noble or otherwise, prohibition has failed," Representative Mary E. Norton, Democrat, New Jersey, introduced a resolution in the House to-day to amend the constitution of the United States to permit a referendum on the question of repealing the Eighteenth Amendment.

Reve E. C. Hayward and Councilor W. H. Meazza, A. D. Green and T. J. Goodlake were returned to office for another term by acclamation last week, as was Police Commissioner Edwards.

ARGENTINA SOON TO CUT POSTAL RATE TO CANADA

Buenos Ayres, Jan. 20.—The Postmaster-General, informing the Government of the new Canadian postal regulation reducing to two cents the postage on letters from Canada to Argentina, which has come into force, expressed the opinion a corresponding reduction should be applied to mail addressed to Canada. He proposes to recommend a reduction from twelve to five Argentine cents on mail pieces weighing a maximum of one ounce.

PRESENTATION MADE HERE TO NOTED ARTIST

Music and Dramatic Work of Harold Eustace Key Is Noted

Before leaving Victoria this afternoon, Harold Eustace Key, the noted musician and composer and director of the Sea Music Festival at the Empress Hotel last week, was presented with a large engraved silver rose bowl in recognition of his services in stimulating the musical life here in higher music and dramatic art.

Engraved on the bowl is the tribute to Mr. Key, "in recognition of his splendid service for the advancement of music and drama in Canada."

The presentation was made by Major J. Bullock-Webster, as representing the music and dramatic interests of this city.

OUTSPOKEN ENTHUSIASM

"The sea music festival in Victoria, I can honestly say, has been a tremendous artistic success," Mr. Key said. "It has created in favor of this centre and the Canadian coast, a most favorable impression all over the world among the musical people of Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Persons from all these cities were present here and they were most enthusiastic in their praise. Among them were a number of the chief critics in the west and they were outspoken in their praise of the standard of the art displayed in the festival here."

"It has created a distinctly good impression among outsiders, which will prove much to the advantage of Victoria in many ways."

RECORD CROWD

Saturday night's final programme of the festival was given in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

Man Held Up in His Room; Chinese Robbed in Laundry

Vancouver, Jan. 20.—Two bandits held up Gin Pun in the Chung Lee Laundry on Kingsway, where he is employed, at 6:30 this morning and made off with $135, according to Gin Pun. The men first said they were police officers searching for narcotics, then said they were bandits, one producing a revolver.

A masked man held up Mrs. A. Robinson, Argyle Street, at Welwyn Street and Kingsway Saturday night, and when she declared she had no money he ordered her to "get along."

Johnny Pasco, City Mission, reported he was attacked by two men in his room on Saturday and robbed of $75.

Halifax, Jan. 20.—To-day will close the provincial by-election campaign in Halifax. To-morrow morning voters of the city and county will go to the polls to choose between Robert E. Finn, Liberal nominee, and Dr. George H. Murphy, candidate of the Conservative Government.

The speakers' task to-day was to persuade the electors to choose Mr. Finn and create a stalemate of twenty-one members for each party in the Legislature, or support Dr. Murphy and restore the Government's majority of two, led by Premier E. N. Rhodes, during the last session.

South African Natives Lose Lives in Fight

Natives compounds in the mines were created into abambies, and a mine manager and policemen attempting to control the natives were killed and injured. The police, however, gradually controlled the rioters and captured huge quantities of weapons in the quarters of the attacking natives.

Canadian Press Cable via Reuters' Johannesburg, South Africa, Jan. 20.—Twenty natives were killed and twenty-nine injured in a battle between rival tribes which marked the culmination last night of a fund that has long been brewing in the Rand gold mines.

Natives compounds in the mines were created into abambies, and a mine manager and policemen attempting to control the natives were killed and injured. The police, however, gradually controlled the rioters and captured huge quantities of weapons in the quarters of the attacking natives.

NORTHEAST WIND

A northeast wind, which reached a maximum velocity of forty-five miles an hour, added to the unpleasantness of the weather yesterday and did minor damage to fences, signs and homes. Starting at 3 o'clock in the morning it had reached a force of thirty-five miles an hour at 4 o'clock and then increased to forty-five miles an hour, subsiding towards noon. The temperature was fairly high, the minimum being 26 and the maximum 29.

Fuel consumption in city homes this morning has reached a large volume owing to the very cold conditions caused by the wind. It is estimated that more coal and wood will be burned during January than for many years past.

Reading of 13 degrees taken this morning was the lowest in the month, level thermometers on Fairfield Road. The minimum at the observatory was 22.5.

YOUNG PLAN SIGNED

The Hague, Jan. 20.—The protocol adopting the Young Plan was signed this afternoon at the second Hague Reparations Conference.

Factional ill-feeling among groups of the Chinese Nationalist League here broke out into open warfare at a meeting held last night. As a result, one Chinese was slain in City Police Court this morning on a charge of assault with actual bodily harm and informations were laid against six others.

A fracas in which chairs were brandished and brought down upon the unprotected heads of the combatants was the outcome of a lively debate among the members of the league, it was reported. Cee Ni Sang and Gi Pong, the informants, bore bruises of the battle when they were in court to-day.

NO TONG WAR

Fears of a tong outbreak such as occurred in Chinatown here two years ago were dispelled by the explanation that the tongs were not fighting for the control of the local branch of the Kuomintang or Chinese Nationalist League.

Frank Higgins, K.C., who is appearing for the prosecution, intimated in court, however, that serious developments might follow the disturbance.

Low Sing Jung was the only one charged to-day. He was given in charge to Constable Duncan McPherson last night. Informations were sworn out against the following on the same charge: Lee Chee, Lee Fook Chung, Lee Mee Dan, Lee Gin Pun, Lee Gong Lee, and Lee Yoo Kwong. Mr. Higgins stated the leaders of the opposing group would be apprehended to explain the disturbance.

BAH, IS FIXED

Ball for Low Sing Jung was set at $250. Making the application, R. C. Lowe, defence counsel, asked for cash bail. There were no weapons used, he said, and the offence was not serious.

Mr. Higgins said he regarded the affair as a rather serious one. There might be further results which would prove disastrous. His information was that weapons were used by the accused.

Victoria Enters Third Week of Freezing Weather With No Signs of Relief

Los Angeles, Jan. 20.—Flaming death, striking out of the muck of a fog-laden sky, to-day was listed as having claimed as victims sixteen plane passengers, spectators at Sunday's horse races at Agua Caliente, Mexico. Their pleasure jaunt was cut suddenly short last night by the plunge of their great Transcontinental Air Transport-Madux Air Lines tri-motored Ford monoplane into a Southern California hillside as they returned to their Los Angeles homes. Eight men and eight women, all but three of whose bodies were burned beyond recognition, were swept from the air into the oblivion of a gasoline-fed funeral pyre.

CEILING 200 FEET

Eyewitness, motorists who likewise were hurrying homeward but along the Coast Highway topping the bluffs of the Pacific shore line, men who said they heard troublesome airplane motors sputtering uselessly and the pilot of a Western Air Express passenger plane who saw the big craft take its human cargo to its doom—all spoke of the misty fog, hanging like a black shroud which forced planes beneath a dangerously low 200-foot ceiling.

BEYOND AID

Eyewitnesses who, hearing the crash and struck with horror by the licking flames, hurried to the spot only to find red hot metal a coffin for the victims, reported all had been beyond the reach of human aid.

The large plane, apparently snagging the hillside with a wing tip, tore through the soft soil many yards, breaking wide open the cabin, catching fire from burst fuel tanks and plunging into a crumpled mass that let not a single life escape.

THE VICTIMS

Speaker Brings Test In India Assembly

Prince To-day Given Welcome At Capetown

Heir to Throne Will Visit City Few Days Before Going Hunting

Capetown, S.A., Jan. 20.—The liner Kennilworth Castle, with the Prince of Wales and his party aboard, arrived here to-day.

A fifty-mile gale had delayed the ship at Table Bay. All aboard were well.

The Prince will remain in Capetown for a few days before continuing to the interior of Africa, where he will resume the hunt for big game and the tour of British Africa possessions interrupted when the illness of his father called him back to England a year ago.

The Prince landed at 9 a.m. He was met by the Earl of Athlone, Governor-General, whose guest while in South Africa he will be, the mayor of Capetown and other local dignitaries. Afterward he drove through beflagged streets to Government House. He was cheered heartily en route.

He refused to allow Sir James Cregar, to speak on the subject and ordered all galleries except the press gallery to be closed.

Mr. Patel said a very serious situation had arisen owing to a difference of opinion between the government of India and the Chief Commissioner of Delhi on one hand and himself on the other over a question of control of admission of visitors to the precincts of the Assembly. He read a letter from Sir James Cregar, which said the Governor-General-in-Council had decided the Government must take the responsibility for protective measures and in which Sir James offered to meet him before the Assembly opened.

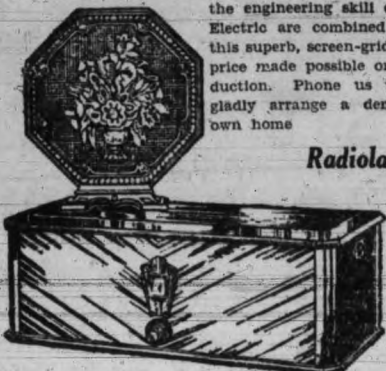

The orders, Mr. Patel continued, were in deliberate defiance of his own orders, issued after the watch and ward committee had made its recommendations.

CROWNING GLORY OF DISRAELI

Famous Statesman's Triumph Pictured on Dominion Screen

George Arliss Plays Magnificent Role in Talking Film

The crowning achievement of Disraeli, in making Queen Victoria "Empress of India" forms the conclusion of the gripping drama, "Disraeli," the picture production in which George Arliss stars for Warner Brothers, and which is playing at the Dominion Theatre all this week.

For the first time in English history, a sovereign—Queen Victoria—came to a reception given by one of her premiers. British rules of court etiquette are even more strict than those at the White House, and it is a well-known fact that the President never dines out. He invites his guests, but no one is permitted to be host to him.

So it may well be imagined what a future it caused when Queen Victoria decided that an especial compliment should be paid Disraeli at the time he made her "Empress of India" through his diplomacy.

The plot of his brilliant story revolves around Disraeli's acquisition

AL JOLSON IN "SINGING FOOL" AT COLISEUM

Popular Actor Will Be Heard in His Most Popular Release All This Week

Clever Comedy Picture and Talking News Reels Will Be Counter Attractions

One of Al Jolson's most popular screen stories, "The Singing Fool," will be the feature attraction at the Coliseum Theatre all this week, commencing to-night and running until Saturday night, with matinee performances on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. In addition to this excellent feature, Manager George McEwan of the Coliseum has secured an unusually funny comedy picture which is bound to keep all who see it in roars of laughter. Talking news will also be shown. The talking machine is now working perfectly and every word and sound can be heard in even the most remote corner of the theatre. The Coliseum was especially built for the stage and so the acoustics are splendid.

A remarkable demonstration of the emotional power of Al Jolson is furnished in "The Singing Fool."

Though Jolson's stormy dramatic rendition of popular ballads has undoubtedly been an important factor in causing the public to acclaim him as the world's favorite entertainer, he has always been considered first and foremost as a comedian.

And yet "The Singing Fool" is not a comedy—having few comedy moments—and no element of comedy action whatever. It is a drama of the most intense pathos—a moving story of the utmost emotional depth. In which Al, though gay and light-hearted in the beginning, is brought at length to the depths of despair.

Jolson's supporting cast includes two leading ladies in the persons of Betty Bronson and Josephine Dunn, and other prominent roles are played by Reed Howes, Arthur Housman, David Lee, Edward Martindel and Robert Emmett O'Connor. The screen story was written by C. Graham Baker from the play by Leslie S. Barrows.

Mary Duncan Plays Inspired Role in "River"

All-talking Fox Movietone Production at Playhouse Theatre This Week

"The River," Frank Borzage's talking picture which is showing at the Playhouse Theatre, is another of the masterpieces that comes from the Fox Movietone Studios.

This photoplay, besides its beauty of construction and perfection of acting, gives the screen one of its most powerful love stories, which dialogue "points up" in a magical way.

Seen in the leading feminine role of "The River" is Mary Duncan. Her inspired performance of Rosalee is worth traveling far to see. As the girl who has known many loves but who benefits by a true spiritual awakening from one boy, Allen John, Miss Duncan rises to the utmost dramatic heights. Her work always is sincere, well timed, artistically restrained and never once does she let her emotions run rampant to the extent of sacrificing the natural for the theatrical. Her voice in the dialogue sequences is of fine timbre.

ROMANCE OF WEST IS TOLD

Story of Rio Grande Showing at Capitol This Week

Warner Baxter and Mary Duncan Play Leading Roles

If sound and dialogue is the answer to the excellence of such pictures as "Romance of the Rio Grande," an all-talking Fox movie with music, Capitol Theatre patrons will cast a unanimous vote for talking entertainment. This, at least, is the conclusion after viewing this Fox movie, the production at the Capitol Theatre all this week.

"Romance of Rio Grande" is a story of the west in pioneer times revolving around the opposing forces seeking to conquer the plains, and especially one particular vast estate below the Rio Grande border. It is an adaptation of Katherine Gerould's stirring novel of the Spanish conquistadors, titled "Conquistador," and in its conversion to the talking screen, Alfred Santell, the director, has done a masterful job in retaining the poignant beauty of locale and pulsating romance which predominates the story. Clever casting is mainly responsible for this grand product which Fox has turned out. Warner Baxter, a star in personality in romantic roles, and Mary Duncan, raven-haired beauty, who has been scoring repeatedly in stellar performances, enact the two principal roles.

The well-known artists of this company, who have earned for themselves the appellation of "a superb cast" by the United States and Canadian press, will all appear in effective roles, and will be seen to as great, if not greater advantage, in "The Crooked Billet" as they were in "The Ringer," which was played here during Christmas week.

Gordon McLeod, Herbert Leonard, Ernest Bodkin, James McGrath, Claude Bailey, Roland Gillett, Dudley Somerville and Harcourt Aubrey fill the many and varied male characters. Miss Lillian Christine, remembered for her fine "Cora Ann" in "The Ringer," together with Miss Maude Blay, will also appear.

ing ingredient of love and comedy—the latter providing Toby Leitch with one of his funniest roles.

Hiram Marco, a farmer, renews his friendship with an erstwhile companion of his boyhood days—Col. Douglas, one of New York's most prominent bankers. Andy Marco, Hiram's young son, falls in love with Amy, the colonel's lovely daughter.

But the great banker will not hear of the match. Sternly, he separates the pair forever.

Time passes. Ambition stirs in the heart of the farmer's boy. He acquires an education as a mining engineer and fame and fortune come to him in California. Again he seeks out Amy only to find that he has a rival for her affections in the person of the colonel's secretary.

The clash of these two men provides drama of the most thrilling order. The plot swings forward with rapid movement and plenty of action from one dramatic situation to another, until the exciting climax is reached.

THREE FLIERS DIE IN CRASH

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 20.—Three men were killed and two injured critically late yesterday when a cabin monoplane dived into Lake Worth here. Those killed were William Lindley, pilot, Daytona Beach; Arthur Umpe, mechanic, Daytona Beach, and Ed Lipsey, believed to be a mechanic, Daytona Beach.

The injured are: Ed. S. Butler, Miami, and Elber Stossel, West Palm Beach.

The cause of the crash was not determined. Witnesses said the plane evidently was trying to land on the lake and fell from a height of about 500 feet.

The plane was owned by the Florida Airways Company at Daytona Beach and had been equipped with pontoons for water landings.

The new cabin monoplane was flown to Daytona Beach from its factory in St. Louis by Lindley only recently. Witnesses said the engine was still roaring as the plane plunged beneath the water.

Butler and Stossel were dragged from the wreckage and removed to a hospital, where their condition was said to be serious. Bodies of three other men were recovered shortly afterward.

The plane took off from Daytona Beach about two weeks ago for West End. It sank shortly after arrival there due to a leaky pontoon, but soon afterward was repaired.

Lindley, who was piloting, learned to fly in New York about ten years ago and after continuing in aviation for some time around Long Island, came to Florida to engage in the real estate business.

BRITISH M.P.'S TO-MORROW TO RESUME WORK

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Jan. 20.—Parliament will resume its session to-morrow overshadowed by the Five-Power Naval Conference despite its own importance. The House still has the problem of the coal bill. In the House of Lords there promises to be a severe pruning of the Government's bill extending the provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act—the dole.

But in view of the Naval Conference, which will occupy most of the attention of Premier MacDonald and his advisers, it is not likely either the Conservatives or Liberals will endeavor seriously to embarrass Government at the present juncture. Political interest centres rather on the speech of Sir Hon. David Lloyd George at the National Liberal Club to-day, when he will reply to the attacks on his leadership of the Liberal Party made by Lord Grey, leader of the old Asquithian section of Liberals, the Liberal Council. Yet while the opening of Parliament will be quiet, it has big problems ahead. And one of the biggest will be the action on the report of Sir John Simon and his committee, who spent months in India studying the outcome of the experiment in parallel government instituted there in 1929. The report is expected in a few weeks.

A SHALLOW ARGUMENT

AT HIS MEETING IN VANCOUVER last Thursday Hon. R. B. Bennett said Canada should be producing $500,000,000 worth of the $902,000,000 worth of goods this country imported from the United States during the year ending with November 30 last. This is by no means a new argument; the leader of the Dominion opposition and many of the newspapers which support him and his party have used it several times of late. But it falls down sadly after a little study.

It is interesting to consider the nature of some of the products this Dominion buys from the neighboring republic. Figures included in the November trade summary issued by the Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa—we are dealing solely, by the way, with the twelve months ending last November—show that we imported anthracite coal valued at $23,859,148 and bituminous coal valued at $26,124,104. Does Mr. Bennett suggest we should tax this hard coal and also increase the present duty on soft coal? Would he advocate that policy in British Columbia in the light of the Tolmie government's opposition to Nova Scotia's application for a tax? Would he say to his supporters in Ontario that anthracite should be taken from the free list? Not much. Ontario would take his political head off if he did.

Then, during the period under review, we bought from our neighbor raw cotton to the value of $27,610,576. Would Mr. Bennett put obstacles for this product to climb over and tell our textile manufacturers either to try to grow their own cotton or get it from somewhere else? He knows, of course, that if we did not import this commodity from the United States, our textile industry would cease to exist.

There also is an item of $54,197,668 for rolling mill products, partly-fabricated materials required by Canadian steel manufacturers. It should not be necessary to remind the leader of the opposition that were any government to impose a prohibitive tariff on these commodities, the battle of the century would be on with a vengeance. The same argument applies to automobile parts—manufactured under mass-production advantages—which account for $45,894,316.

Nor can we picture Mr. Bennett campaigning in the prairie provinces in support of a duty on farm implements—the imports of which amounted to $31,892,041. Would he increase the duty on machinery used in British Columbia's industries, such as mining and lumbering? It is worth noting, incidentally, in regard to farm implements that although we bought more than $31,000,000 worth from the United States, we exported nearly $20,000,000 worth, our sales for the period under review being valued at $6,000,000 more than in the previous twelve months, while our imports showed a decrease of nearly $8,000,000 in value.

Of especial interest to thousands of families in Canada is the price of automobiles. Our imports under this head amounted to $32,745,235, all for passenger vehicles. Does Mr. Bennett propose that the present duty should be increased and Canadian purchasers taxed accordingly? We presume he knows that while $32,745,235 was the value of these imports, we exported in the same period passenger automobiles to the value of $30,996,660, an increase of almost $7,000,000 compared with the preceding twelve months. Does the leader of the opposition observe any relationship between this export figure and the figure for our imports of automobile parts—a relationship which has been very largely responsible for the amazing growth in Ontario of several small communities into thriving towns and cities?

Another item in our import bill is $21,366,606 for rubber. Are our manufacturers who require this material in their business to be told they must in future pay more for it—which, of course, would be added to the selling price of the commodities they produce? No rubber is grown in Canada.

Is the Dominion in a position to get along without supplies of crude and refined petroleum of which we imported in the twelve-month period $63,095,726 worth? And about the $28,000,000 we spent on imported fruit? Mr. Bennett knows that a very large part of this sum was for oranges, lemons, bananas and pineapples. Has he some secret formula for the establishment of an "infant industry" to produce these fruits in Canada? Or does he want them taxed on general principles?

The imports to which we have referred are just a few of the miscellaneous assortment of products we buy from abroad; mainly from the United States. Our manufacturers do most of the importing because it pays them. What Mr. Bennett does not tell us, however, is how he reaches his conclusion that $500,000,000 of the $902,000,000 worth of these imports should be produced in Canada, what commodities this sum represents, and whether, if they could be produced in Canada, they could be turned out at a price the Canadian consumer could afford to pay. Does he seriously argue that the productive methods demanded by a population of 125,000,000 people could be applied at once to a population of only a little more than 10,000,000 people?

We have pointed out in these columns frequently that many of the commodities Canada imports from the United States could be bought from the United Kingdom. What we would like to know from the leader of the opposition is whether he is prepared to waive his hostility to the British Preference, and advocate such further reductions of the duties as present imposed on goods coming into Canada from Great Britain as would enable them to compete with foreign articles.

Unless Mr. Bennett is prepared to support a policy of this kind, he stands exposed to the charge that he is neither sincere in his complaints about our unfavorable balance of trade with the United States, nor willing to assist in increasing our business with the United Kingdom by the only effective means.

TO-MORROW'S MOMENTOUS EVENT

SINCE THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE date of the naval gathering which the King will open in London to-morrow morning the press and many public men of the countries directly concerned in its deliberations have indulged in a good deal of speculation and prophecy. "Notes" have been published purporting to set out the minimum with which the nations issuing them would be satisfied. A substantial crop of scepticism has been sown. Not a little nonsense has been published. In the main, however, the public has fervent hopes that the conference will succeed in making practical progress towards the objective it has set itself.

Beyond question, widely divergent points of view will have to be reconciled before common ground for detailed discussion will be reached. As Mr. Ramsay MacDonald already has said, his country's cards will be on the table. There is every indication that this policy will prevail all round. Perhaps the most hopeful feature about this gathering is that its discussions will not be dominated by men who view the problem through the barrel of a sixteen-inch gun or through a foot of armor plate. Naval experts, of course, will be in attendance and asked for their views on such technical matters as may have to be considered; but it should be borne in mind that the purpose of the conference is to reduce naval establishments.

We have been told that the question of categories will be the rock upon which the conference will come to grief. There ought to be no ground for such a supposition. It is no compliment to such men as Premier MacDonald and President Hoover, and none to the influential newspapers of Britain and the United States, to imply that the gathering is merely an empty gesture to appease the world-wide clamor for less expenditure on armaments. Rather is it reasonable to predict that the frank discussions the conference will permit will achieve important results and give the tax-burdened peoples of the world new hope.

REEVE CROUCH'S FOURTH TERM

THE SIZE OF HIS MAJORITY SHOWS that the people of Saanich are fully satisfied with the administration Reeve Crouch has given them during the three terms he has been in office. He thus enters his fourth year under the most favorable auspices, with the knowledge that he has a large volume of public opinion behind him. Mr. Hobbs put up a sportsmanlike fight against the Reeve. No doubt an important factor in his defeat was his advocacy of the school bylaws, which were turned down.

The Times congratulates Reeve Crouch on his victory and predicts another successful term of office. Victoria is directly interested in the progress of the adjoining municipalities. As they expand and increase their prosperity, benefit is derived by the whole of this section of the Island. Saanich, in particular, is an important factor in this regard, since there is included within its boundaries large areas of valuable agricultural land, the cultivation of which will contribute in an important measure to the economic welfare of this community.

THE BUS PLEBISCITE

SATURDAY'S VOTE ON THE BUS plebiscite in Oak Bay is a mandate to the council of that municipality to approach the Legislature for legislation giving the Blue Line the exclusive right to operate motor buses within the civic boundaries over a period of years.

The battleground in this issue, therefore, will now be shifted to the House. It is not easy to predict what will happen to the matter there. Although measures setting up monopolies—such as the Marketing Act and the Milk Act—have reached the statute books, their passage was marked by stubborn attacks upon the principle involved. Obviously what has happened in Oak Bay is only the opening round of a big fight. In any case, the residents of the municipality are assured of improved transportation facilities.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

COMPULSORY MOTOR INSURANCE

The London Daily Mail

The introduction of compulsory insurance against third-party risks is a sound principle, but it should not be left in the power of an insurance company or a combination of insurance companies to decide whether a man shall drive a car or not. As the bill stands, it is possible for the insurance companies to refuse a man insurance and thus prevent him from motoring. There must clearly be some form of appeal to an impartial authority.

OPEN DOORS AND OBSTRUCTED MARKETS

The Manchester Guardian

What purpose the flood of eloquence expended in the House of Lords recently was supposed to serve remains somewhat obscure. What door was to be forced open by this torrent? It took the form of an earnest appeal to the government not to debar next year's Imperial Economic Conference from discussing Empire Free Trade. But that door was open already, and could not in the nature of things be shut. Lord Passfield naturally replied that if any of the governments represented came to raise the question neither he nor anyone else would attempt to ban it. A single question and answer would have sufficed to settle that point. But the voluble exponents of Empire Free Trade must have had some further object in view. Perhaps they hoped by hearing themselves speak to find out what various parts of the Empire thought to discuss possible developments of Empire trade. That is at least an intelligible proposition which real free-traders would see no harm in exploring.

Loose Ends

Vancouver vindicates its honor as we should do here—by refusing new-fangled names—and Mr. Sheriff writes a stirring fragment.

By H. B. W.

IN THE great city of Vancouver there have lately been community convulsions over the proposal to change the name of Deadman's Island, and the end of it all is that Deadman's Island is to remain just as it has been. To all right-thinking people this will be a source of keen satisfaction. It was time that somebody halted the present passion for changing good old names, which have traditions of their own; for new ones which have nothing to commend them but respectability. Respectability, after all, is a poor return for the loss of a name like Deadman's Island, the history of which I do not know, but which surely must have been born in adventure, bloodshed and romance, such as we do not see these days.

It is a notable tribute to the good sense and romantic spirit of Vancouver that it should have pounced so promptly and so hard upon those who were determined to take the violence and history out of Deadman's Island. And it should be a lesson to anyone who has similar designs on our place names here. We too have a Deadman's Island, a river, a rather unpleasant, feeble kind of a river, to be sure, but it has a fine old name. Were it to become of any particular use, like the Deadman's Island in Vancouver, which is to be an airport, there would be those who would clamor for another more euphonious name. Let them keep their hands off. Deadman's River, no doubt, has some rousing association and memory for those who know its history. So have other names which should be preserved. It is a lot on our civic escutcheon, for instance, that the good old name of "Songhees Reserve," which calls up the picture of our stirring yesterday, of old Fort Victoria with the Indians camped opposite, should have been lost lately, its place taken by the name Industrial Reserve, a good enough name in its way, but without any traditions, without any memories, without any romance. In this age the forward march of industry is inevitable, and as we must eat, we can't help it. But surely we could have continued to call our old Reserve "Songhees" instead of "Industrial," and thus remembered, if only with a fleeting glance, another age when things were different.

R. C. SHERIFF, the brilliant young Englishman who gave the world "Journey's End," has just given it a tiny fragment of writing which, in its way, is as gripping as his unequalled war play. If you have seen "Journey's End" or read it in book form, you will want to read what Mr. Sheriff calls "A Soldier's Letter to His Son." It is no use in this space trying to reproduce the effect of this letter. It is supposed to be written by a soldier of middle age, a bank clerk in an English village, on the last day of his leave from France to his little son, aged nine, and is to be opened on the boy's twenty-first birthday if the father doesn't come home. It is opened this year.

ARE YOU wondering," he asks, "whether I am glad or sorry that I'm going back to France to-morrow? I think I am glad. I am glad that I and the men of my generation have not put the burden on you and yours. I would rather go to-morrow to France and die than sit at home ten years from now and wait in agony for you to die. I am glad that we are fighting now this war that had to come as surely as the sun must rise. I am glad the soldier has just forestalled the scientist in fighting out this last war while a vestige of war's romance still survives, and makes us sometimes proud of fighting for our countries that death no longer matters. You would have fought a great alien war in gas and artificial darkness; with death rays probing for you. Death would have gone on ferreting out your defenceless lives. In our war we can at least stand up sometimes in daylight fields and let life face death with a fighting chance. We do know the worst; we know we can face it and sometimes live. In ten years' time the worst would be far beyond the living power of common man."

YOU HAVE made the last day of my leave a very happy one; the happiest, perhaps, that I have ever had in this placid life of mine. We were away early this morning, crunching down the frost, and wading knee-deep through the mist. Out on the common we chucked the cricket ball at one another till our fingers glowed, and we stuffed our gloves into our pockets; the sun came through, and we sat on a fallen tree while I smoked a pipe, and you took off your shoe to empty a stone out.

AFTER TEA we went out together across the downs, and saw the moon come up over the sea. We watched the fishing boats come home, coming out of the dark to cross the long glittering path to the moon, and sitting in the dark again.

WE JUST peered into your room—you are sleeping like a log. No wonder. It's been a full day for both of us. And I must be up at dawn. So, good-night, John, and thank you!

THAT WAS the letter of a father to his son twelve years ago, when the war to end war was dragging to its end. What will the son think of it? What will the son think of his father's words. "I am glad that I and my generation have not put the burden on you and yours" when he reads all the cynical talk of these latter days about the next war, the propaganda against disarmament, the screechings of the Big Navy men? And what would the writer of this little letter have thought of these same things if he could have foreseen them? That last night of his leave, when he wrote to his son, the little boy who has just reached fighting age? Perhaps he would not have felt so confident, so satisfied, as he prepared that night to leave at 6 next morning for the front.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, January 20, 1905

Last evening the annual meeting of the Fifth C.A. Rifle Association was held at the drill hall.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Easterly winds, mostly cloudy with showers.

The annual meeting of the Victoria Tourist Association, which was held last evening in the council chamber of the City Hall, was largely attended.

The barque Haddon Hall is to be hauled out on a local marine railway to-day for a survey of her injuries.

Passengers on the steamer Queen, bound for San Francisco, away out at sea, had a snowstorm experience as well as Victorians last week.

The report, appearing in Sound papers yesterday that British Columbia logs had advanced in price, is not true, according to Victorians interested in the business.

This week's Gazette contains the announcement of the incorporation of the Capital City Canning and Packing Company, with a capital of $150,000, divided into 6,000 preference shares of $10 each and 9,000 ordinary shares of $10 each.

A public meeting was held last evening in the City Hall to discuss the ways and means necessary to reach a settlement in the Songhees Indian Reserve question. It is one which vitally affects the interests of Victoria in many ways.

W. J. Sippell, principal of the Wesleyan College, New Westminster, and Mrs. Sippell arrived from Vancouver by the steamer Princess Victoria.

W. R. MULOCK, WINNIPEG, DIES

Long Prominent as Barrister in Manitoba; Funeral To-morrow

Winnipeg, Jan. 20.—William Redford Mulock, B.C., prominent barrister and old-time resident of Winnipeg, died at his home here late Saturday. Mr. Mulock came to Winnipeg in 1882, and had been prominent in law, church and temperance circles for many years. He was born at Carleton Place, Ontario, January 11, 1850, a son of Rev. Canon and Mrs. Mulock. Mr. Mulock had been ill for the last three weeks.

The funeral will be held from the residence here to-morrow afternoon, with burial in St. John's Cemetery. Mrs. W. R. Mulock, two sons and a daughter survive him. The daughter is Mrs. W. E. Armstrong, Winnipeg, and the sons are W. C. Mulock and Col. Redford H. Mulock, D.S.O., who had a distinguished career in the Royal Air Force in the war, and to-day is prominent in civil aviation.

EDUCATED IN ONTARIO. Educated at Queen's University, and later at University College, Toronto, Mr. Mulock was called to the Ontario bar in 1872, and remained in the capital city for ten years in the practice of his profession. Coming to the prairies, he was admitted to the bar of Manitoba in 1882, and since that time had been an honored member of the legal fraternity, a trusted and highly esteemed citizen. Forty years ago, during the reign of Queen Victoria, he was made a Queen's Counsel.

Mr. Mulock was nationally known for his views on the liquor question. He was an avowed prohibitionist, regarding the use of intoxicating liquors as a national economic waste. Mr. Mulock formed the first penny savings bank in Toronto, and later was the promoter of the same movement in Winnipeg.

TRIAL OF HATRY STARTS IN LONDON

London, Jan. 20.—One of the greatest trials in modern British history, that of Clarence Charles Hatry and three co-defendants on charges of fraud and forgery arising from the crash of the Hatry group of companies last year, opened here to-day.

Losses of nearly $10,000,000 were incurred by shareholders and members of the associated companies in the stock market debacle, and members of the London Stock Exchange have formed a pool of $5,000,000 to discharge the obligations to foreign creditors.

The co-defendants are A. E. Taber, John Dixon and Edmund Daniels and with Hatry himself they face fifty-two separate charges. Sir William Jowett, Attorney-General, is chief crown prosecutor.

Three special concerts at the Empress Hotel this season. January 23, 24, 25, March 28, April 17.

W. O. WALLACE NEW POTENTATE

Gizeh Temple Band and Patrol Likely to Go to Toronto This Summer

W. O. Wallace is the new most illustrious potentate of Gizeh Temple of the Mystic Shrine. He was elected at the annual convocation of the Shrine held at the new Gizeh Temple, and succeeds Most Illustrious Past Potentate Walter Luney, who has retired after completing his term of office. Other dignitaries elected are: Chief Rabbi, Emory C. Jones of New Westminster; Assistant Rabbi, David McKenzie of Vancouver; High Priest and Prophet, Don B. Martin of Victoria; Oriental Guide, Arthur Dawe of New Westminster; Treasurer, Frank V. Hobbs of Victoria; Recorder, Edward E. Leeson of Victoria. Representatives to the imperial session in Toronto this year, the Most Illustrious Potentate, the Recorder and Charles A. Welsh. Annual reports were given on the progress of the Shrine unit for crippled children at the Mill Bay Solarium. Dignitaries of Gizeh Temple are now making plans for adequate representation of the temple at the imperial session in Toronto, which will include the sending of the Shrine band and a uniformed patrol.

WILL DEBATE ON DEVELOPMENT OF VICTORIA

The Young People's Society of the First United Church will hold its second debate of the debating tournament to-night at 8 o'clock, when representatives from the Volunteers and Eagles classes will discuss the topic, "Be it resolved that Victoria should be developed as a tourist centre rather than an industrial centre." The judges will be Miss MacFarlane, R. G. Howell and B. C. Nicholas, with John Gough as chairman. After the debate, Mr. Nicholas will address the young people. The meeting will conclude with a short social period, during which visitors will be welcomed. Much interest and anticipation is being aroused concerning the burlesque musical festival which is being prepared by John Smith and John Gough, which will be presented early in February.

VETERANS ELECT LEADERS FOR YEAR

Vancouver, Jan. 20.—C. C. Callin of Ladysmith was elected president of the Provincial Command of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada at a convention held in O'Brien Hall here Saturday. Major J. P. Ward, Vancouver, was elected first vice-president, and P. Clarkstone, North Vancouver, was chosen second vice-president. W. Taylor, New Westminster, was re-elected secretary. The convention, which included delegates from Ladysmith, Nanaimo, New Westminster, North Vancouver, and Vancouver, ended with a banquet in Bancroft's Cafe. The secretary reported the membership had increased twenty-five per cent during the past year and that eighty-five cases of pensions adjustment and re-establishment had been attended to. Members had received $6,500 in back pay and pensions through the efforts of the organization. He also stated relief from various sources during the year averaged $3,000 per unit.

School Trustee Mrs. E. Isbister, A. Lockley and J. A. P. Crompton Re-elected
Capt. S. R. Bowden Police Commissioner Again; Gorge Vale Club By-law Passes

Re-election of all last year's officers on the School Board and Police Commission and passage of the Gorge Vale Golf Club Fixed Assessment By-law resulted from the election in Esquimalt Saturday. Trustee Mrs. Elizabeth Isbister headed the polls in the School Board section, securing 324 votes. Alex. Lockley, with 302, was second, and Major J. A. P. Crompton third, with 263. These three were trustees last year and succeeded in retaining their posts. The other candidates in the field, R. J. Stewart, polled 222 votes.
Capt. S. R. Bowden scored a decisive victory for the police commission, securing re-election to the post, he having received 100 votes. The other candidates were: J. W. Macdonald, 48; and J. W. Macdonald, 48. His total was 283. The two unsuccessful candidates, Henry Campbell and A. W. Saddler, polled 141 and 96 respectively.

BURNS DINNER ON SATURDAY

Capt. Ian Mackenzie, M.P.P., to Be Chief Speaker at Annual Function

The Burns Club of Victoria will hold its annual dinner next Saturday night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium at 7.15 o'clock. The dinner of this club, which is said to be the largest Burns club in the world, have achieved quite a reputation during the last few years because of the character of the addresses given, the high quality of the entertainment, and the manner in which they are conducted. Already tickets are in great demand, and it is expected that the full quota of 300 will soon be taken.
The toast of "The Immortal Memory of Robert Burns" will be given by Captain Ian A. Mackenzie, M.P.P., for North Vancouver. Captain Mackenzie is a forceful and eloquent speaker, and his addresses on Scottish themes are usually marked by a Celtic flow of impassioned oratory.
John Ross, president of the club, will preside at the gathering, and among other speakers will be His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Mayor Anson, Commander L. V. Murray, James Lightbody, D.S.O., Mrs. W. A. Jameson, Dr. A. O. MacRae, Alderman Robert Smith, Alderman Alexander Peckin and Adam W. Bell.
A splendid musical programme featuring Burns' songs, as well as other Scottish numbers, will be rendered by the following artists: Mr. Macdonald, Miss Isobel Crawford, J. G. Brown, G. P. Watson, Robert Morrison, Wm. C. Fyfe and George Bryden, with Mrs. Lewis Hall, Miss Norma Halliday and Miss Dorothy Morton as accompaniments, and Pipe Major Donald Cameron as club piper.
The dinner will feature the old Scottish dishes, including the haggis, which will be piped in with all the honors.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Life" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday.
"Hear, O my son, and receive My saying, and the years of thy life shall be may" (Proverbs 10) was one of the Scriptural texts contained in the lesson-sermon.
Following the reading of the Bible texts, passages were also read from "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, one passage being the following from page 346: "Timetable of birth and death are so many conspiracies against manhood and womanhood. Except for the error of measuring and limiting all that is good and beautiful, men would enjoy more than three score years and ten, and still maintain his vigor, freshness and promise."

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Edred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

TEMPORARY SLUMP IN MILK CONSUMPTION OF LITTLE CONSEQUENCE

The absence of milk in the diet for a limited time won't do the child any lasting harm, and it is well to emphasize this occasionally. Mothers seem to be terrified to change from breast to bottle or from bottle to cup feeding because the baby doesn't take as much milk in the new way as he did before. If mothers could be satisfied that the change is more important, for the time being, than the quantity of milk consumed, they would regard the whole matter much more calmly.

Mrs. C. H. says, "I have been unable to wean the baby because she won't accept milk except from the breast. She is one year old and I have starved her for a while, but she still won't take a bottle. What shall I do?" "She takes cod liver oil, orange juice, and all the vegetables a baby can eat, but she doesn't take milk except with a spoonful of powder in it. Isn't she too young for that?"

The really important thing, Mrs. C. H., is that the baby is far too old for breast feeding. Breast milk is of poor quality at this time, and it does the child no good nutritionally. Babies fed longer than a year on breast milk fail to thrive, develop rickets, and become so habituated to breast feeding that they grow more and more obstinate about being weaned.

A WEEK SHOULD ESTABLISH CHANGE

Here is my advice: Stop the breast feeding. Give the child three regular meals daily at 7, 12 and 7. In the morning give cereal made with milk and pour milk over it, orange juice and cod liver oil. Give a small cup of milk to drink, and use some of the malted powder if baby likes it better. The correct proportions are about five ounces of milk, one ounce of water, one teaspoon of the powder and one scant teaspoon of sugar. Put the cup of milk by the child and refill it when it is empty. Don't worry about the amount taken or how much is spilled. At noon give vegetables with some milk over them. Give a milk pudding, a custard or junket, and the cup feeding again, but don't fuss if baby doesn't take it. At night offer the cereal again and for a few days, if you want to, run at this last meal, but don't nurse for longer than a week, by which time baby should be getting used to the cup feedings and satisfied without the breast.

Keep in mind that there are all kinds of ways of getting the milk into the diet and into baby without her crying. Employ a few of these various methods until the baby has become accustomed to the loss of nursing and is willing to accept milk in this way. You are not to find this with patience and no scolding or teasing. The baby will accept the cup wholeheartedly in about a week.

Four other problems I am sure of poor diet, for baby lacks cereal or you forget to mention it. I've told you how inadequate the breast milk is, and you can give only one nap daily right after the noon meal, put baby to bed regularly every single night right after the night meal, and she will become accustomed to going to sleep. I'm wondering if you haven't taken her out at night and spoiled these good night habits. That isn't an unusual thing for mothers to do and the results are always just what you have noticed.

SEA FESTIVAL

AUDIENCE IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Incorporated in the English version of the story reconstructed by J. Murray Gibbon from the French of Louis de Montigny. The music by Stanley Willan has real historical value.

Ulysses Paquin, who carried the role of the genial Baron de Poutin, through the story, was a fine central figure who occupied his place with distinction. Sharing the honors with him musically were Alfred Heather, whose singing of "Thus Both the King" proved him an artist of no mean power, and Herbert Hewatson, whose best song was "When We Were Sailors," a condensed epic sung very sympathetically.

All the old chiefs of the sea were offered in a perfect setting in the "Bound for the Rio Grande," and with "The Song of the Sea" by Heather and Ulysses Paquin to support him, it is little wonder that the offering drew long and sustained applause. Herbie Hewatson and Ulysses Paquin's piano numbers again drew outbursts of spontaneous applause.

The "Order of Good Cheer" so abounding in rollicking good humor, swinging songs and enthusiastic choruses that it carried an audience on a wave of enthusiasm throughout the whole presentation, was presented Saturday night for the last time as the successful Sea Music Festival chieftain of the play.

"Bound for the Rio Grande" the ballad opera of the sea in which John Goss leads in old-time sea chanteys of sailing days, was also given a feature, and was given the same reception that it has been accorded each night of the festival.

There was again a big audience Saturday night, and the sustained applause that greeted every number of the programme was a tribute to the capable organizers of the festival. The "Good Cheer" was a feature which lingered long in the memories of all who saw it during the festival. French-Canadian folk chanteys and songs of the period of Henry IV of France are

New York, Jan. 20.—A stern vegetarian gesture was the reaction of George Bernard Shaw to the reaction of the honor last night by the Down Hall Club.

Despite the Irish dramatist's persistent refusal to visit the continent, Archibald Henderson, biographer of the playwright and toastmaster at the dinner, invited him to attend.

He received the following reply: "I am sorry that I am unable to make the pretext for killing all those wretched animals and birds and fishes. Thank you for nothing."

"Now if it were to be a fast instead of a feast, say a three-day abstinence from courses in my honor, I could at least pretend to believe that I was disinterested."

"Blood sacrifices are not in my line." Three hundred persons attended, sitting at forty tables, each of which bore the name of a play or a novel by the absent guest of honor.

At the table named for "Caesar, Byron's Profession" sat James J. Corbett, who once held the title Shaw's friend Gene Tunney later relinquished.

SHAW SUGGESTS

FAST, NOT FEAST, IN HIS HONOR

The decline in our favorable trade balance is evidently partially accounted for by the smaller crop, but more so by the wheat being held, looking for higher prices, and not yet being exported.

Hydro-electric power becomes each year more and more prominent as one of Canada's most stable and valuable resources, and the steady growth of water power development witnessed throughout the Dominion during the past few years was substantially maintained during 1929. The total capacity of new installations brought into operation during 1929 amounted to 378,400 horsepower, bringing the total installations for the Dominion to a figure of 5,727,600 horsepower. There are undertakings under active construction which, according to the programme proposed, will add more than 1,000,000 horsepower to this total during the next three years. It is apparent, therefore, that the rate of growth of recent years will not only be maintained but will be considerably increased, and we are informed by the Government Department that there is yet awaiting development approximately 30,000,000 horsepower.

The Province of Quebec, with its development of water power and attendant industries in the Lake St. John and Saguenay District, and the St. Maurice, Coteau and St. Lawrence Rivers, and in the vicinity of Montreal, together with the mineral development in the northwest portion of that Province, and with the large Pulp and Paper industries, already successfully established, has shown a most satisfactory expansion and growth.

The Province of Ontario, with its tremendous development in the Sudbury and Northern districts, together with its Pulp and Paper, Hydro-electric and other industrial development, likewise has shown most satisfactory expansion and growth.

The prediction made in my address of last year with reference to the stabilization of the Prairie-Provinces seems to have been abundantly justified by what has taken place during the past year, and the plans for yet greater development in 1930.

The Hudson's Bay Railway has become a reality.

The Peace River District has been opened up. The area of its agricultural lands has been placed by Federal Government statistics at 47,000,000 acres, that is almost twice the acreage from which Ontario derives an annual agricultural production worth more than half a billion dollars. It is double that from which Western Canada cropped in 1928 five hundred million bushels of wheat. Fertile soil and unique climatic conditions make the Peace River country one of great productivity. Three world championships in wheat, one by oats and one in peas attest the high quality of its products.

In yield per acre it usually passes all other major areas in Canada. It is expected that substantial contributions will accrue from the mineral

Eighty-third Annual Meeting Canada Life Assurance Co.

Mr. Leighton McCarthy, President, Makes Annual Address

GENERAL BUSINESS REVIEW

Canada records for 1929 another prosperous year, notwithstanding the fact that she has experienced many baffling and disturbing conditions, created principally by the reduced export market, and by the stock market debacle in the United States and Canada, which closely approached proportions of a panic, and was checked only short of complete demoralization. Individuals lost lifetime savings, and in many cases more. Business suffered a setback, depression, and if not in general only because of the unprecedented existing prosperity. It seems reasonably certain now that so far as Canada is concerned, there will follow a business recession, which should not produce any lasting hurt. We are assured by our foremost financiers, Statesmen, Bankers, and the Chief Executives of our two great Railway Systems that the trade conditions in the various Provinces exhibit upon the whole, not a banner year, nor a cloudless sky, but sound basic conditions. There never was a time in the history of Canada when business as a whole has been at a higher peak than during the year 1929, or when the developed sources of our wealth were more wide and varied than they are to-day, and never a time when the earning power of our people was sustained in so many channels of production. Fundamental conditions are sound, and there is no reason for apprehension as to the ultimate future of our country.

FOREIGN TRADE

The Foreign Trade of the Dominion has suffered in volume and value by the diminished grain crops and the slow movement of wheat to foreign markets. Our total imports for the twelve months ending on the 31st of October, 1929, were $1,303,461,475.00, and our total exports for the same period $1,307,372,111.00; thus leaving a favorable balance of $4,910,646.00.

Our export of farm products for the twelve months ending 31st October, 1929, was $671,457,485.00, as against for the same period the previous year, $611,890,757.00; or a decrease of $140,433,272.00.

The decline in our favorable trade balance is evidently partially accounted for by the smaller crop, but more so by the wheat being held, looking for higher prices, and not yet being exported.

Hydro-electric power becomes each year more and more prominent as one of Canada's most stable and valuable resources, and the steady growth of water power development witnessed throughout the Dominion during the past few years was substantially maintained during 1929. The total capacity of new installations brought into operation during 1929 amounted to 378,400 horsepower, bringing the total installations for the Dominion to a figure of 5,727,600 horsepower. There are undertakings under active construction which, according to the programme proposed, will add more than 1,000,000 horsepower to this total during the next three years. It is apparent, therefore, that the rate of growth of recent years will not only be maintained but will be considerably increased, and we are informed by the Government Department that there is yet awaiting development approximately 30,000,000 horsepower.

The Province of Quebec, with its development of water power and attendant industries in the Lake St. John and Saguenay District, and the St. Maurice, Coteau and St. Lawrence Rivers, and in the vicinity of Montreal, together with the mineral development in the northwest portion of that Province, and with the large Pulp and Paper industries, already successfully established, has shown a most satisfactory expansion and growth.

The Province of Ontario, with its tremendous development in the Sudbury and Northern districts, together with its Pulp and Paper, Hydro-electric and other industrial development, likewise has shown most satisfactory expansion and growth.

The prediction made in my address of last year with reference to the stabilization of the Prairie-Provinces seems to have been abundantly justified by what has taken place during the past year, and the plans for yet greater development in 1930.

The Hudson's Bay Railway has become a reality.

The Peace River District has been opened up. The area of its agricultural lands has been placed by Federal Government statistics at 47,000,000 acres, that is almost twice the acreage from which Ontario derives an annual agricultural production worth more than half a billion dollars. It is double that from which Western Canada cropped in 1928 five hundred million bushels of wheat. Fertile soil and unique climatic conditions make the Peace River country one of great productivity. Three world championships in wheat, one by oats and one in peas attest the high quality of its products.

In yield per acre it usually passes all other major areas in Canada. It is expected that substantial contributions will accrue from the mineral amounted to $308,876,000.00, or 10.5 per cent greater than the preceding year. Canada now produces 90 per cent of the world's nickel; 85 per cent of the world's cobalt; 9 per cent of the world's gold; 6.7 per cent of the world's lead; 8.4 per cent of the world's silver; 6.4 per cent of the world's zinc; and 4 per cent of the world's copper. This industry seems each year more clearly to assure its permanence.

resources believed to exist in this portion of the country. The projected railways to be constructed in the interests of both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific will, it is hoped, give proper and sufficient facilities for enabling the resources of this vast territory to be properly, fully and economically developed.

In British Columbia the mineral and waterpower resources have been increasingly developed, and the development of Vancouver's terminal and harbor facilities has been substantially continued. It is hard to realize the dimensions to which the shipping industry of this Province may increase.

Canada's development resources, and as the Panama Canal is developed, and as Japan and China take more and more of what Canada produces. Truly it may be said that, with such a vista as Canada now has, a mere recession in business should not dull our vision or affect our courage, nor make us in any way lose faith in Canada's future prosperity.

The recent debacle in the stock market has brought most practical questions before the public the controversial question as to the wisdom or otherwise of Insurance Companies investing in any considerable position of their assets in Common Stocks. It has been reported by our officers, from their respective spheres, that the insurance public in Great Britain, the United States of America, and even in our own country, are laboring under the misconception that ALL Canadian Life Insurance Companies invest a very large proportion of their assets in Common Stocks. It therefore becomes my duty, as well as my desire, to remove, in so far as it is possible, such a misconception. The company has but 1.44 per cent of its assets invested in Common Stocks, and no Life Insurance Company in Canada, save one, has, I believe, more than seven per cent of its assets invested in Common Stocks.

The policy of our Company since its incorporation in 1847 has been, when investing its funds, to seek in the United States of America, and in our own country, are laboring under the misconception that ALL Canadian Life Insurance Companies invest a very large proportion of their assets in Common Stocks. It therefore becomes my duty, as well as my desire, to remove, in so far as it is possible, such a misconception. The company has but 1.44 per cent of its assets invested in Common Stocks, and no Life Insurance Company in Canada, save one, has, I believe, more than seven per cent of its assets invested in Common Stocks.

We have related the temptation to invest largely in Common Stocks, because we believed that that which has happened would happen, and consequently it was not constant with our duty to our policyholders. We preferred the fixed type of investment, such as bonds, preferred stocks and mortgages, which are subject to no such fluctuations of value. We have a balanced list of maturities. This system brings in a constant stream of payments of principal without resort to the sale of assets. It is, then, too, the most heralded advantage of Common Stocks is the prospect of profit in years to come, but that would mean benefit for the future rather than for the present. We do not feel that we should fairly postpone possible but uncertain accretions to principal for the sake of a few years' increase in living, many of whom will then have died or ceased to have an interest in the Company.

Had not the policy referred to been that of most of the Life Insurance Companies of this continent, our hesitations to express what might have been the result of the recent violent break in the stock market, it is sufficient to say that no Life Insurance contract has, as a result of the disturbance, been varied in any respect, as to dividends or otherwise. It must, however, be assumed that, because most Life Insurance Companies have weathered the storm unscathed, it was by reason of a financial policy peculiar to their executives, or because they enjoyed any unique advantages of market position. Had the investments of those Life Insurance Companies been of a speculative character, they would have suffered proportionately with those individuals and corporations who were afflicted.

It has been convincingly demonstrated that Life Insurance, by reason of the high ideals of its management, aided by statutory limitations, has been so entirely dissociated from the speculative security market, its capital and influences, that it was not endangered, nor should it ever be greatly threatened by tals or any like catastrophe.

The integrity and absolute reliability of Life Insurance contracts should never be subjected to the upturns or downturns of the market. Any Company which has been through the recent market upheaval without feeling the pinch, and without sharing in any substantial extent in the speculative security market, is regarded as fundamentally stable and sound. Your Company claims to be one of these.

NEW HEAD OFFICE SITE
It is my pleasure to report that the architects have completed the plans for our new offices, to be erected at the corner of Queen Street and University Avenue. The new building and the necessary excavation work commenced in September last. The work is thus far progressing satisfactorily and rapidly, and it is hoped that, by this time next year, it will be almost if not quite ready for occupation.

Your Directors were, last June, greatly distressed by the death of their colleague, the Honorable Col. Sir John Gibson, K.C.M.G., M.C., who for many years served the Company to its great advantage. His large business connection and experience were of great value to us.

During the year Mr. Aime Gosselin, K.C., of Montreal, was good enough to accept a seat upon the Board to fill the vacancy created by the death of our late colleague, Mr. Robert Bickerton. The Honorable Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior and ex-Prime Minister of the Province of Alberta, was also good enough to accept a seat upon the Board to fill the vacancy created by the death of Sir John Gibson. Each of these gentlemen has already displayed a very keen interest in the success of the Company, and will, I am sure, be of great value in furthering its progress.

FORESTRY, PULP AND PAPER

The primary forest industries in Canada, together with the manufacturing industries using forest products as their raw materials, have experienced remarkable prosperity in 1929, and evidently expect even greater things in 1930. Production of newsprint in the first eleven months of 1929 has reached the unprecedented total of 2,490,564 tons, as compared with 2,173,498 tons in the corresponding period of 1928, an increase of nearly fifteen per cent over what was itself a new high record. While this industry has some baffling conditions to contend with, it is apparently permanently and firmly established.

BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

The marked trade activity of the last five years has caused very extensive building construction, and the undertaking of very important engineering works. Residential, office, warehouse and factory buildings outstrip all previous records.

RAILWAYS

Our Railways have suffered in revenue by the recession in business through the last two or three months of the year, but we are assured by the Chief Executive Officers of each that they see no reason for alarm; that they propose to proceed with courage in those things which relate to the maintenance and improvement of their properties. They have each stated their faith and belief in Canada and her resources, and in her ability to continue her upward march in wealth and development.

DEVELOPMENT AND STABILIZATION OF CANADA

The Maritime Provinces, consequent upon the investigations of the Duncan Commission and the implementation of their recommendations, are finding a definite and increasing market for their products within the limits of the Dominion, and they are not only greatly improving economic conditions but are sharing in the aggressiveness and optimism that characterize Canadian industry as a whole.

The Pulp Industry in both New Brunswick and Nova Scotia is being rapidly developed, and a steady and increasing demand for brine frozen fish has produced a market which promises much for fishermen in these Provinces.

The people of Cape Breton are anticipating with much hope the early announcement of the British Empire Steel Company if its plans for increased employment and production.

Conditions in the Maritime Provinces have not for many years been so satisfactory.

The Province of Quebec, with its development of water power and attendant industries in the Lake St. John and Saguenay District, and the St. Maurice, Coteau and St. Lawrence Rivers, and in the vicinity of Montreal, together with the mineral development in the northwest portion of that Province, and with the large Pulp and Paper industries, already successfully established, has shown a most satisfactory expansion and growth.

Spring Meeting At Latonia Track To Be Eliminated

Covington, Ky., Jan. 20.—The Kentucky Racing Commission met here Saturday and decided to eliminate Latonia's Spring thoroughbred race meeting. The step was a radical departure from Kentucky's Spring racing programme. The commission announced that the chief reason for abandoning the Latonia Spring meeting, which heretofore has been held regularly at that time for forty-seven years, was the weather. Last Spring, the commission said, Latonia experienced twenty-four rainy days out of a twenty-nine-day meeting. During the fall Latonia had a similar experience, a good track prevailing for only seven days of a thirty-day schedule.

The opening date for the first Latonia meeting was set for June 28. It will last thirty-seven days, closing August 5.

CARNERA TO MAKE DEBUT ON FRIDAY

Giant Italian Heavyweight Will Meet Big Boy Peterson at New York

Johnny Risko Meets Bertazzolo to-night; Two Champions Will Fight

New York, Jan. 20.—The biggest heavyweight in the business furnishes New York boxing fans with the nation's outstanding fistie spectacle this week.

Primo Carnera of Italy, who grossed more in the neighborhood of 285 pounds and whose head is some six feet eight or nine inches away from the floor, makes his United States debut against Big Boy Peterson of Minneapolis in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Larry Johnson, Chicago negro light heavyweight, who recently knocked out Jose Sefyara in a round, meets Fred Lenhart, Spokane, Wash., in the ten-round semi-final, and Add Warren, North Carolina heavyweight, takes on Ora "Buck" Weaver of Kansas in the first ten.

Jimmy Maloney, Boston heavy weight, and Armando Emanuel of San Francisco, clash in the Boston Garden's feature attraction Friday night. Heavyweights also head the card at Cleveland to-night with Johnny Risko, the baker boy, battling Ricardo Bertazzolo of Italy.

Two champions are down for bouts in which their titles will not be at stake. Bat Battalino, featherweight titleholder, takes on Lew Massey of Philadelphia at the Philadelphia Arena to-night. Riddle Fields, welterweight champion, meets Vince Dundee of Baltimore in the top bout of the Chicago Stadium's card Friday night.

KEATING WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Carry Saanich Cup, Emblematic of Hoop Title, in Series With West Road

Keating basketball team won the Saanich Cup, emblematic of the district championship, from the West Road fives by a thirty point margin on the home and home series. The three games Saturday night gave the Keating teams a twenty-three point increase on their seven point lead gained at the West Road Hall, and although they dropped two of the games Saturday night their overwhelming victory in the immediate game was the deciding factor.

Last year the Keating team won the cup by four points margin and the large increase in the totals this year speaks well for the calibre of the team which played in the eastern part of the Saanich peninsula.

In the first game the West Road women were given quite a scare by the fair sex from Keating and when the final whistle sounded they were two points down. The score of 20-18 was in itself a victory for Keating as in the series of games at West Road they had lost by a 28-9 score.

The first half of the game found the winners on the long end of a 15-0 score. West Road managed to hold their lead in the first half.

The teams individual scores follow:
West Road—E. Matthews 2, M. Peden 11, B. Handy, May Peden, 1 Alexander and B. Armstrong.

Keating—M. Scott, V. Handy 4, H. Scott 3, D. Rendle 5, A. Styan 4, N. Styan 2.

West Road were unable to cope with the heavy scoring forward line that the Keating intermediates have developed and this not only lost them this game but practically the series.

Keating, Michell and Bates were scoring rapidly throughout the game and their forty-one points was sufficient for victory.

The first half ended with Keating leading 22-13 and in the final minutes of play they increased their lead by playing some great basketball.

Ray Kersey with seventeen points was the leading scorer closely followed by Michell with fourteen and Pete Lannon both collected eight points for West Road.

The teams and individual scores follow:
Keating—Kersey 17, Michell 14, S. Bates 10, L. Styan 2, Cunningham 6, and C. Kersey.

West Road—Peden 8, J. Lannon 8, P. Lannon 8, T. Bickford 2, A. Bickford and W. Stuggett.

West Road seniors won the final game of the series and the senior representatives from Keating by a 30-10 score. This game was close throughout and the final half ended with West Road on the long end of a 13-0 count.

The final twenty minutes of play was that with both teams fighting hard to take a commanding lead. Keating were only able to come within one or two points of their opponents score and were never able to go into the lead.

Wilson was the leading scorer with twelve points and in the final minutes of play he increased his lead. Alan Lemarquand refereed all the games.

The teams and individual scores follow:
West Road—C. Stuggett 11, Clarence Stuggett 3, Parrott 1, Andrews 4, M. Lannon 1, and G. Lannon 10.

Keating—Jiffell 8, Atkinson 12, Tupman 2, Sutton 3, and P. Atkinson.

FIRST TEAM EASY WINNER IN BADMINTON

Garrison-Willows Players Defeat Third Division Side By 3-3 Score

Saturday night's huge representative badminton match, involving the best players in each of the smaller clubs in the league and the combined Garrison-Willows team, ended in a decisive victory for the latter. The score was 3-3.

Quite a large number of spectators were in the gallery to watch the play and witnessed some splendid work. The first victory for the representative team came when McIlraith and Anderson defeated Major Gibson and Bert Flett in three sets in an excellent match. The winners rallied after losing the first set at 15-10 and then carried the battle to their opponents. The second set ended 15-13 and the third after a long and bitter struggle, ended 15-13 for the North Saanich representatives. Another noteworthy contest took place in the next men's singles when Ismay and Clarke, second Willows pair, were taken to three sets by Fish and White of the Fairfield club. It was the closest struggle of the men's series and a rally by the winners at the close of the match gave them the decision. The losers annexed the second set at 15-12 after a first had ended 15-4. The final set was a 15-11 victory for the latter.

The win of Miss Hughes and Bagley in the mixed for the third division team was perhaps the most popular of the programme. After the first two sets had been split the losers accumulated a 9-2 lead which the Saanich representatives attacked with success and evened the count, only to have Miss Medley and Major Russell go ahead to 13-9. Another rally again tied the score at 13 all, but the Garrison pair went to 15-13 and the match seemed over, but the winners came through for five points on their service to win.

Player Should Concentrate In Badminton As In Golf

By JACK PURCELL
Canadian Badminton Singles Champion

No matter how perfect one may become in wielding a racket he will never reach the top rank in badminton unless he plays the game primarily with the mind. There are scores of players to-day who appear to possess a fine all-round game but who never get anywhere simply because they reverse the proper order of things by playing the stroke first and doing the thinking afterwards.

Then again there is the player who during the everyday friendly match is able to bring off his strokes perfectly and with a steady and effective game, but when once called upon to perform in a tournament match before a gallery, becomes confused and produces a game filled with errors due to the fact that he is out there going through the motions with his mind wandering far away from what he is doing. Let someone take hold of this same player and teach him to concentrate and he will go out and carry off victories. Concentration must be developed during the practice games and playing seriously during practice is one big way by which concentration may be developed more easily. Go out on to the court and hold the match in your mind by playing for every point in every game and every shot in every point. Keep your mind on what you are doing and forget about what else is going on around you, for if you are able to cultivate this attitude in your everyday games it will be very much easier for you in important tournament games where conditions of play and noises in the gallery are very apt to bewilder you and distract you from your work. It will be found that the same player who produces more enjoyment for you when you are serious in practice, by concentrating on the courts only encourages carelessness and laziness and brings you into a rut which is very hard to get out of.

Concentration plays just as large a part in badminton as it does in golf, and one only has to follow the great Walter Hagen for a few holes in golf to see for himself how important concentration is in the latter game. The great golfer has had his proof enough of the value of concentration.

Texas Works Out Clever Play

Down in the great open space of Texas they are as keen for basketball, which is played indoors, as for such outdoor pastimes as baseball and football. And they are on to all the stunts that are known to the game. The Coach Fred Walker's team at the University of Texas, a great organization that proved to be the best ever turned out by the Lone Star institution last season. They had a clever and quick working out-of-bounds play at the business end of the court.

No. 1 had the ball. Nos. 2 and 3 were the men concerned. No. 2 made a quick start to beat it for the corner and circle around B. As he did so No. 3 cut immediately behind him for the basket. You see, as No. 3 cut, his opponent B moved with him. As both were passing G as G attempted to get into the play to cover No. 3, C was simply crowded out of the picture.

A quick pass in to No. 3 from No. 1.

SAANICH GIVES CROUCH FOURTH TERM AS REEVE

Re-elected By Majority of 326 Over F. V. Hobbs in Saturday's Contest

School By-laws Defeated; F. J. Crowhurst and W. R. Woods Join Council

The voters of Saanich on Saturday emphatically indicated satisfaction with the services of Reeve William Crouch, re-electing him for a fourth term over Frank V. Hobbs, ex-chairman of the school board. Reeve Crouch was accorded 1,390 votes. Mr. Hobbs received 1,064.

When the unofficial count concluded on Saturday evening at the Municipal Hall, Reeve Crouch briefly expressed his appreciation. The notable increase in the support accorded him in the rural districts of Wards Three, Five and Six had been most gratifying to him, and second only to the expression of confidence by the farmers was his appreciation of the friendly platform campaign conducted by Mr. Hobbs, the Reeve said. Mr. Hobbs thanked his supporters, attributing his lack of support, in part, to the unpopularity of the school by-laws he had sponsored.

LARGER VOTE
The vote was slightly larger than that cast in the election of 1927, when Mr. Crouch first attained the reeve ship by defeating H. O. Kirkham. In both cases the large turnout was in part due to submission of by-laws of much public interest, but the voting on Saturday differed by being to a far greater extent polled by residents in Saanich, whereas in 1927 a very heavy city vote was registered.

BY-LAWS SWAMPED
The school building by-laws were overwhelmingly defeated, that for high schools receiving 720 votes in favor and 1,474 votes against, while the by-law authorizing additions to two schools received 831 votes in support and 1,332 votes against.

Councillor G. F. Watson was re-elected by Ward Three, and the two new members of the council, representing Ward Two and Four respectively, will be F. J. Crowhurst and W. R. Woods. Both wards were notable for the heavy polling registered.

Police Commissioner Charles E. King was re-elected by a majority of more than 1,000 votes, receiving 1,638 votes, while his opponent, Frederick Canney, received 628 votes.

Details of the polling by wards was as follows:

FOR REEVE
Ward One ... Crouch 215 Hobbs 66
Ward Two ... Crouch 361 Hobbs 80
Ward Three ... Crouch 101 Hobbs 173
Ward Four ... Crouch 328 Hobbs 128
Ward Five ... Crouch 83 Hobbs 137
Ward Six ... Crouch 77 Hobbs 133
Ward Seven ... Crouch 415 Hobbs 70

The vote for council seats was:

WARD TWO
F. J. Crowhurst ... 235
Dennis Hoare ... 101

WARD THREE
Councillor G. F. Watson ... 179
Councillor W. Stubbs ... 94

WARD FOUR
W. R. Woods ... 196
W. J. Lynn ... 139
C. H. Williams ... 121

SCHOOL BY-LAWS
The school by-laws poll by wards was:

Ward One—67 and 75 for, 176 and 169 against.

Ward Two—202 and 226 for, 211 and 161 against.

Ward Three—33 and 67 for, 189 and 101 against.

Ward Four—101 and 127 for, 833 and 312 against.

Ward Five—45 and 59 for, 164 and 149 against.

Ward Six—83 and 78 for, 116 and 119 against.

Ward Seven—106 and 199 for, 222 and 249 against.

Total—720 and 831 for, 1,474 and 1,522 against.

POSTMEN HONOR CHRIS SIVERTZ

Veteran Letter Carrier Guest of Former Workers at Post Office

Christian Sivertz, a letter carrier at the Victoria Post Office, who recently retired after thirty years' service, was honored by members of the Post Office staff at St. George's Hall Saturday night. He was presented with an easy chair and smoking cabinet.

Preceding the presentation, W. Hislop, who presided, spoke of the work of Mr. Sivertz. He referred to his untiring efforts in bettering the conditions of letter carriers and postal employees in general. Many times Mr. Sivertz had advanced proposals in conferences throughout the Dominion for improved conditions both in wages and hours, and in the majority of cases his suggestions had been accepted.

He sketched Mr. Sivertz's efforts at Ottawa, Brandon, Quebec, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Guelph, Calgary, Winnipeg and other cities where Mr. Sivertz, either as a delegate from the local letter carriers or as a member of the civil service, had aided organized labor. As an evidence of Mr. Sivertz's success at these gatherings, Mr. Hislop pointed to the increase in wages and to the better conditions enjoyed since Mr. Sivertz had set out to rectify them thirty years ago.

In making the presentation, Postmaster G. H. Gardiner spoke of his association with Mr. Sivertz since he was appointed to the post in the Victoria office. He had always found Mr. Sivertz ready to assist him in every respect and was deeply conscious of his value as a member of the staff. While he would have liked to have him continue his postal service, he realized Mr. Sivertz had certainly earned his rest, and joined with the gathering in wishing him every happiness in his retirement.

A smoker concert, which included songs by Tom Obee, Mr. Brunell, Mr. Seymour White, A. Geiger, F. Wright and Little Monty, W. Mann, J. Mason, J. Hallison, W. Ralph, Tom Canon, followed.

The committee in charge of the function consisted of R. Knight, O. Wale, A. Geiger, G. Church and W. F. Hisslop.

The death occurred suddenly at Oak Bay on Saturday of William Rostrom, who arrived in the city from England only seven weeks ago. The late Mr. Rostrom was born in Darwen, Lancashire, sixty years ago, and prior to coming to Victoria resided at 21 Hemlock Road, Southampton, Lancashire, England. He was a retired manufacturer and came to this city with the intention of making his home here. The remains are being kept at the B.C.

FOUR CHINESE APPEAL AGAINST DRUG SENTENCES

Convicted on Evidence of Russian Police Informer, Court Is Told

Lee Kim, Henry Chan, Charlie Sam and Mah Poy Ask Review of Their Trials

Argument opened in the Appeal Court this morning in appeals by four Chinese from conviction and sentence on charges following the seizure of forty-four tins of opium by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Vancouver.

J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., W. C. Morphy, K.C., Stuart Henderson and other counsel represented the several accused. W. M. Mackay and H. S. Woods appeared for the Crown. The four appeals under consideration are those of Rex versus Lee Kim, Rex versus Charlie Sam, Rex versus Mah Poy, and Rex versus Henry Chan.

In opening argument for the appellants this morning J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., representing Mah Poy, submitted that if the evidence of a police informer were laid aside there would be no evidence to connect Mah Poy with any of the events described by the prosecution. Even including this evidence, he submitted, there was no evidence to show that Mah Poy did other than accompany some friends on a party, without any knowledge of the opium later claimed to have been seized by the police.

"SAM THE RUSSIAN"

The informant, said Mr. Farris, was one known as "Sam the Russian," a longshoreman at Vancouver, who had been in the pay of the police. The evidence alleged that "Sam the Russian" had been approached by Henry Chan to row out to an Empress Line steamer in the month of August last, and after passing a paper with Chinese characters on board, had received forty-four tins of opium from the ship. The drug had been taken to a hotel room, and later delivered to Charlie Sam, who was immediately arrested by officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who had had the party under surveillance. The evidence of the informant had, even if believed in full, contained nothing to the detriment of Mah Poy, who had been convicted and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, continued Mr. Farris. Hearing continued, with argument by counsel for the other accused to be heard.

AIR TRAVELERS

When he got out of the car he staggered and was evidently intoxicated. When asked for the probable why he had come to the police station, he said he thought it was the White Lunch.

FORREST SAYS HIS INVENTION WAS VALUABLE

Shares in Victoria Syndicate Increased in Value, Accused Declares

Evidence that in his belief the shares of the Victoria Ejector Syndicate were worth to-day many times what they had been sold for, was given by John H. Forrest on the witness stand in his own defence, at the resumption of the trial before Judge Lammiman in County Court this morning. The accused is charged with obtaining $100 by false pretence from John W. Goss, a subscriber to the share capital of the syndicate.

After initial arrangements in Victoria he had gone to Vancouver where he had interested others in negotiations looking to the formation of a company, said Mr. Forrest. One man in particular, Mr. Knight, had been ready to advance all the money required to start work, and would have been willing, witness believed, to buy out any Victoria shareholders who wished to drop out.

Shortly after this, continued the defendant, he had gone to Seattle, where, through negotiations carried on with a Mr. Honahan, a United States Company had been organized as a companion to the Forrest Patents Limited, the Canadian firm. The Seattle firm had produced 300 machines, some for the City of Seattle, and held contracts for the supply of a large number on a monthly basis, when he was arrested at Vancouver in answer to the Victoria complaint of Mr. Goss, said the defendant. His arrest had taken place on New Year's Eve, twenty-four hours before he was able to complete straightening out the financial tangle to the satisfaction of all concerned. As to the value of the stock, witness believed that the producing company's stock was worth $7 for $1, and that the Victoria stock was worth many times what it had been sold for initially.

The defendant was still under cross-examination by R. C. Lowe for the prosecution, at the luncheon recess.

Henry G. Hall, K.C., appears for the accused.

PEOPLE WHO KNOW PIANOS BUY THE STEINWAY

AMONG PEOPLE who are acquainted with the comparative merits of various makes of pianos, there is never any doubt as to which they would like to own. That is why virtually every musician of note since 1853 has chosen and played the Steinway. These people know that there is no other piano that will command the marvelous breadth and brilliance of tone which is so peculiarly Steinway's. They are aware that no other will do service half so long. . . . And in the lifetime of perfect satisfaction given by this great instrument they recognize that true economy which lies in the best and finest things.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown &amp; Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, Jan. 20.—Wheat: Acted nervous and erratic today within a narrow range of about 1½ cents, but prices were mostly higher than at the close Saturday. An advance of almost one cent was scored during the opening period with some local shorts covering and other support which was largely based on the strength in Liverpool and Buenos Aires, but this gain was all lost after the market sinking to fractionally under the previous close but again rallied and made new highs for the day.

Selling pressure was not heavy, but offerings increased on the bulge, which made them difficult to hold. Seaboard estimated export sales at around 1,000,000 bushels, mostly Manitoba and largely out of Vancouver, but very little of this business was reflected in the market.

World shipments last week totaled 10,946,000, of which 5,361,000 went from North America. The on passage supplies increased 600,000 bushels, indicating that the distribution abroad was still slow. The American visible supply showed a good decrease of 3,624,000 bushels. The market took a slide downward to the low points shortly after the noon hour but again rallied sharply, ending the day higher.

Course Grains: There were a few buying orders in the pit at the start this morning, for both oats and barley and prices made fair gains, especially barley, but the buying power soon played out and prices weakened later. There is a continued good demand from eastern Canada for a year or two, feeding grains, but nothing doing in export circles.

Flax: This market was dull with nothing of feature going on, closing prices unchanged to 1¢ lower.

By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited
Chicago, Jan. 20.—Wheat: The market was helped by the strong cables and also by a Washington report saying co-operative companies would be authorized to trade in futures if this was deemed necessary. Liverpool closed 1½ to 2 cents up at midday, with a better demand reported for wheat and flour on the other side.

Export sales were 1,000,000 bushels in all positions, late Saturday and today. On passage stocks increased 600,000 bushels with total about 27,000,000 bushels less than a year ago, world's shipments being smaller than the previous week at 10,946,000 bushels compared with 21,911,000 a year ago. The visible showed a decrease of 3,624,000 bushels for the week which was a healthy reduction in view of the small clearances and indicates a healthy domestic disappearance.

LATEST REPORTS FROM CANADA AND U.S. GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown &amp; Co. Limited)

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The Chicago Tribune to-day says: "Farm board activities in the grain markets are increasing in an apparent effort to stabilize values in the southwest and northwest, co-operative lines bought No. 1 Northern wheat in Minneapolis at 1.25, durum wheat in Duluth at 1.15 and No. 1 and 2 grades at 1.12. Indications are that their activities will be increased."

"At the same time, foreigners have disappointed the bulk on wheat here by not buying heavily of United States grain, while Canadian, who reduced their prices, made good sales, particularly in the Orient."

"General discussion of the trade is on the possibility of American wheat prices being reduced to a competitive level with Canadian and Southern Hemisphere wheat in foreign markets. Argentine offerings are increasing at a rapid rate, and price levels are used as a club to force North American holders to sell their grain at lower values."

"Advisers from abroad do not suggest the immediate possibility of foreigners becoming bullish and of their buying heavily in anticipation of future requirements. It is estimated that a better level of values cannot be secured, but with large supplies in North America and the crop season half gone, the situation of the future more carefully, although nearby deliveries of wheat are around 40 cents under the season's highest, taking the low level reached Friday."

Winnipeg, Jan. 20.—Cables lower than due in Winnipeg and higher than Chicago created a debatable situation here to-day. With all exporting countries in a state of confusion, the market for wheat looks as if it were, with her weak money conditions.

Will endeavor to check export sales as much as possible when she is forced into the market, which is practically the same as doing. However, it is not a case of the immediate body, and prospects seem to favor the North American side of the argument and favoring a buying position on breaks, even if it is necessary to make a little longer hold than usual to get out with a profit.

By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited
Chicago, Jan. 20.—Wheat: The market was helped by the strong cables and also by a Washington report saying co-operative companies would be authorized to trade in futures if this was deemed necessary. Liverpool closed 1½ to 2 cents up at midday, with a better demand reported for wheat and flour on the other side.

Export sales were 1,000,000 bushels in all positions, late Saturday and today. On passage stocks increased 600,000 bushels with total about 27,000,000 bushels less than a year ago, world's shipments being smaller than the previous week at 10,946,000 bushels compared with 21,911,000 a year ago. The visible showed a decrease of 3,624,000 bushels for the week which was a healthy reduction in view of the small clearances and indicates a healthy domestic disappearance.

Had Backache for Nearly Three Years

She Then Found Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills

"I had backache for nearly three years," writes Mrs. Ed. Desayoux, a resident of Spanish, Ont. "I took six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and today I feel fine. I never have to complain of my back now. I had previously tried all kinds of pills, but they never helped me. I have to thank Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Many women suffer periodically with backache and, as middle age approaches, the pain grows more severe. Rest may give temporary relief, but Dodd's Kidney Pills strengthen the weak kidneys and help the cause of the pain. A trial will surely convince you.

The Three Hostages

JOHN BUCHAN

I walked down to Oxford Street and had tea in a tea shop. As I sat among the chattering typists and shop boys I kept wondering whether I was not wasting my time and behaving like a jackass. Here was I, as fit as a fiddle, consulting specialists and visiting unknown missuses in North London and all with no clear purpose. In less than twenty-four hours I had tumbled into a perfectly crazy world, and for a second I had a horrid doubt whether the craziness was not inside my mind. Had something given in my brain last night in Medina's room, so that now I was what people call "wandering"? I went over the sequence of events again and was reassured by remembering that in it all I had kept my head. I had not got to the stage of making theories; I was still only waiting on developments and I couldn't see any other way before me. I must, of course, get hold of Sandy, but first let me see what this mad business meant. It might all be perfectly square; I might have remembered Dr. Newhouse's name by a queer trick of memory—heard it, perhaps, from some friend—and that someone had told him to expect me. Then it occurred to me that I might be doing a rash thing in going off to an unknown house in a seedy suburb. So I went to a public telephone booth, rang up the Club and told the porter that if Colonel Arbuthnot called, I was at 4 Palmyra Square, N.W.—I made up the address and would be back before ten o'clock.

I was rather short of exercise, so I decided to walk, since I had plenty of time. Strangely enough, the road was pretty much that which I had taken on that June day of 1914 when I had been waiting on Bullivant and the Black Stone gentry, and had walked clean out of London to pass the time. Then, I remembered, I had been thrilling with wild anticipation, but now I was an older and much wiser man, and though I was sufficiently puzzled I could curb my restlessness with philosophy. I went up Portland Place, past the Regent's Park, and I left the house of the wall-to-do behind me, and got into that belt of mean streets which is the glacial of the northern heights. Various policemen directed me and I enjoyed the walk as if I had been exploring, for London is always to me an undiscovered country. I passed yards which not so long ago had been patches of market garden, and terraces, sometimes pretentious, and now sinking into slums; for London is like the tropical bush—if you don't exercise constant care the jungle in the shape of the slums, will creep in. The streets were full of clerks and shop girls waiting for buses and workmen from the St. Pancras and Clerkenwell factories going home. The wind was rising and in the untidy alleys was stirring up a noisome dust; but as the road rose it blew cleaner and seemed to bring from Kentish fields and the Channel the tonic freshness of spring. I stopped for a little and watched behind me the plain of lights, which was London, quivering in the dark blue windy dusk. It was almost dark when at last, after several false casts, I came into are other troubles? So? These I must explore. But first I will take away the pain."

I felt her light firm fingers playing about my temples and the base of my skull and my neck muscles. A very pleasant sensation it was and I am certain that if I had been suffering from the worst headache in the world it would have been spirited away. As it was, being in excellent health, I felt soothed and refreshed.

"So," she said, beaming down on me. "You are better? You are so good that it is not easy to be well all over at once. Now, I must look into more difficult things. You are not happy in your nerves—not altogether. Ah! these nerves! We do not quite know what they are, except that they are what you call the devil. You are very wakeful now. Is it not so? Well, I must put you to sleep. That is necessary, if you are willing."

"Right," I answered, but inwardly I said to myself, "No, my woman, I bet you don't." I was curious to see if, now that I was forewarned, I could resist any hypnotic business, as I believed I could.

I imagined that she would try to master me with her eyes, which were certainly remarkable orbs. But her procedure was the very opposite of the small girl brought some things on a tray and told me that the time had come. First of all, with a fine cambric handkerchief, she wiped my eyes, and then tied above my forehead some heavy opaque material. They were loosely bound, so that I scarcely felt them, but I was in the thickest darkness. I noticed that she took special pains to adjust them that they should not cover my ears.

"You are not wakeful," I heard her say; "I think you are sleepy. You will sleep now."

I felt her fingers stray over my face and the sensation was different, for whereas, when she had treated my headache, she had set up a delicious cool tingling of the skin, now they seemed to induce wave upon wave of an equally pleasant languor. She pressed my forehead, and my senses seemed to be focussed there and to be lulled by that pressure. All the while she was cooing to me in a voice which was like the drowsy swell of the sea. If I had wanted to go to sleep I could have dropped easily, but, as I didn't want to, I had no difficulty in resisting the gentle coercion. That, I fancy, is my position about hypnotism. I am no kind of use under compulsion, and for the thing to affect me it has to have the backing of my own will. Now, I could appreciate the pleasantness of it and yet disregard it. But it was my business to be a good subject, so I pretended to drift away into slumber. I made my breath come slowly and softly, and let my body relax into impassivity.

Presently she appeared to be satisfied. She said a word to the child, whose feet I entered, and the room was a sound of opening doors—my ears, remember, were free of the bandages and my hearing is acute—and then it seemed to me that the couch on which I lay began slowly to move. I had a moment of alarm and nearly gave away the show by jerking up my head. The couch seemed to travel very smoothly on rails, and I was conscious that I had passed through the folding doors and was now in another room. Then the movement stopped and I realized that I was in an entirely different atmosphere. I realized, too, that a new figure had come on the scene.

There was no word spoken, but I had the queer inexplicable consciousness of human presences which is independent of sight and hearing. I have said that the atmosphere of the place had changed. There was a scent in the air which anywhere else I would have sworn was due to peat smoke and mixed with it another tangible savour which I could not put a name to, but which did not seem to belong to London at all, or to any dwelling, but to some wild out-of-doors. . . . And then I was aware of noiseful fingers pressing my temples.

They were not the plump capable hands of Madame Breda. Nay, they were as fine and nervous as a wanderer's wind, but behind their airy lightness was a hint of steel, as if they could choke as well as caress. I lay supine, trying to keep my breathing regular, since I was supposed to be asleep, but I felt an odd excitement rising in my heart. And then it quieted, for the fingers seemed to be smoothing it away. . . . A voice was speaking a tongue which I knew not a word not speaking to me, but repeating, as it were, a private incantation. And the touch and voice combined to bring me nearer to losing my wits than even on the night before, nearer than I have ever been in all my days.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly's Jumping Mouse

(Copyright, 1930)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Hopping one morning past the cute little six and seven-cent store house, where Jollie and Jille Longtail lived, Uncle Wiggly was quite surprised to hear Jollie squeaking to his sister:

"I can jump a lot farther than you can."

"No, you can't," squeaked back Jille. "I'm a better jumper than you are, so there!"

"Pooh! Girls can't jump!" went on Jollie.

"They can't? Well, I'll show you!" answered Jille.

Then Uncle Wiggly, standing outside in the square, heard some plopping sounds which seemed to mean that the mice children were having a jumping race.

"But they shouldn't do it now," thought Mr. Longears. "They will be late for school, stopping to see who is the better jumper."

"Mrs. Longtail, the mouse lady, mustn't allow the same thing, for she called:

"Jollie! Jille! Stop that silly jumping at once and run along to school!"

"All right, ma," answered Jollie. "But, anyhow, I'm a better jumper than you are!"

"Oh, you are not!" cried the little girl mouse.

"I am so," squeaked Jollie and there the dispute started all over again until Mrs. Longtail opened the door and gently pushed her mouse children out to go to the Hollow Stump School.

Now Jollie and Jille saw Uncle Wiggly, and Jollie called out:

"I'm the better jumper! You ask Uncle Wiggly!"

"You are not!" cried Jille again. "Dear me!" murmured the old rabbit gentleman. "I hope you aren't going to keep this up all day, children. Now about your lesson."

"Oh, I know mine," said Jollie. "And I know mine," answered Jille.

"But if he thinks he can jump farther than I can let him try right there and now and you can be the umpire, Uncle Wiggly!"

"No! No! Hop along to school!" begged Mr. Longears. So Jollie and Jille scampered along but, every now and then, they would stop and dispute about jumping. So they were late for class and the Lady Mouse Teacher said she would have to do something about it.

She did, too. She told Uncle Wiggly, and the old rabbit gentleman wondered how he could get the mice children to stop jumping so much about jumping. So they were late for class and the Lady Mouse Teacher said she would have to do something about it.

When a Man Marries It Is for Comfort and Peace
And an Agreeable Companion—He Wants Some
One to Pat Him on the Back and Hearten Him
And to Love, Appreciate and Take Care of Him

WHAT do men really want of marriage? They want comfort. They want their wives to be good housekeepers, good managers, thrifty and efficient. More men than women hurry to get homes. After a man has passed the adolescent stage, when he is in love with love and any woman can have him for the taking, the thing that often lures him to the altar is not the yearning for romance, but a craving for home cooking.

He is sick and tired of living in clubs and hotels and boarding houses and foraging for his meals. He has got to the place where he can read a menu a yard long over from top to bottom without finding one single dish on it that appeals to his appetite, and he doesn't want to bother having to order a meal, anyway.

He wants a wife who will know all of his tastes and whims in food and get before him just the things he likes best, cooked in just the way he likes them. He is tired of coming home at night to a dark and gloomy room. He wants to come back to a place of light and warmth and cheer, with a smiling woman waiting to welcome him. He is tired of finding holes in his stockings and buttons off his shirts, and that he has forgotten to send out the laundry, and that when he starts to dress in a hurry he hasn't a single clean handkerchief to his name.

Then it is that his thoughts turn towards matrimony, and he clutches at the nearest woman as a drowning man at a life preserver, and as long as his wife keeps angel food in her hand she can keep him eating out of it.

Men want peace in marriage. They get all the fighting they desire every day in the outside world, and when they come home they don't want to take on another skirmish. They don't want to argue anything or to be told any "bad news" that will irritate them. That is why so many men suffer themselves to be heckled. It is easier to give in than to put up a scrap.

A man will forgive his wife for breaking many of the Ten Commandments if only she will refrain from nagging him and quarreling over trifles, and if she is easy to get along with and makes his home a place of peace and rest and quiet in which his taut nerves can relax, and from which he can go back refreshed to do battle anew with his opponents, no siren can prevail against her.

A man wants companionship in marriage. In time he gets weary of looking at even the most beautiful living picture if it is dumb. His soul must be fed as well as his body, and he wants a wife who can put pep in a conversation as well as in her cooking. It is boredom that primarily sends men away from home in search of amusement and entertainment and more agreeable companionship than they find in it.

Every man's dream of marriage circles around having a wife who will have the same tastes that he has; who will enjoy the things he enjoys; who will read the books he reads and laugh at the same jokes, and with whom he can talk endlessly as one does with a pal. And he gets the disappointment of his life when he finds that he has married a lady who never wants to do anything that he wants to do; who hates all of his old friends sight unseen; who is dull and stupid and who never has an idea, or a thought or an interest beyond the children and the kitchen.

A man wants an audience in marriage. Every man is bound to have some woman confidant. Some woman to whom he can tell the things that he would be ashamed to tell any other man on earth. Some woman to whom he can boast vaingloriously about the things he is going to do and the triumphs he is going to achieve. Some woman on whose breast he can weep when things go bloomy and he stands disheartened amidst the wreckage of his hopes.

Every man needs a woman who will listen to him, and nine times out of ten when he borrows the ears of some lady outside of the family circle it is because his wife yawned in his face when he tried to tell her about his hopes and plans, and interrupted his best story to exclaim over how cute the cat was acting, and because when he told her of his misfortunes it only furnished her with a whip to scourge him for his bad judgment.

A man wants a clique in marriage. He wants to feel that while an unappreciative world may pass him by and fail to realize what a wonder he is, there is one woman in the world who admires and looks up to him and thanks heaven daily on her knees for having bestowed such a blessing upon her. That is why men have the head-of-the-house complex so badly, and why they want to be consulted about every move their wives make, and why they want their wives to ask their permission to buy a new hat, or go to see mother. In reality they don't care a rap about what their wives do, but they just want this gesture of deference to an oracle made to them.

And that is why wives are so stupid, but mean and stingy, when they withhold from their husbands the flatteries and the gentilities that would make their husbands so happy and lubricate the domestic machinery so that it would run so smoothly. Wise, indeed, is the wife who beats upon the cymbals, and proclaims in the market place how wise and generous and kind her husband is, and calls attention to her efforts to please him.

Finally, and perhaps most of all, a man wants love and appreciation in marriage. Women have an idea that heart-hunger is a purely feminine complaint, but in this they are mistaken. Men also starve for affection. They also pine for something more than the flabby, lukewarm liking into which so many marriages degenerate. They want warm, burning passion, a fire on the hearthstone that never goes out. They want kisses that are something more than a peck on the cheek, and they want their wives to make them know and feel that if all the world turned against them there would still be one to whom they could go, secure of a devotion that would never fail.

And they don't want their wives to take all they do for them for granted, but to tell them of their appreciation of all the work and sacrifices that they lay upon the altar of home.

These are the things men want of marriage. And sometimes they get them. DOROTHY DIX.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

Many busy women find Sunday evening a most convenient time to entertain a few friends informally. The housekeeper without a maid or the "business woman" as well as a housekeeper can manage a Sunday supper party when the more formal and elaborate dinner is out of the question.

One hot dish, some form of bread, relishes, dessert and something to drink is usually enough to serve. Bouillon or consommé may be the hot dish and a hearty salad may replace the relishes, but the menu should be kept simple.

If more persons are to be served than can be comfortably seated at the dining table, small tables can be placed in the living-room and the food served buffet fashion from the dining-room. The hot dishes are arranged for each guest to help himself. The small tables can be completely "set up" or merely covered with lunch cloths. In this even the guests will bring their napkins and silver with them, cafeteria style, from the dining table. The dessert is brought in when wanted and served individually.

USE CHAFING DISH
A hot dish made or at least kept hot in a chafing dish is always suitable and usually popular with both men and women.

Hot buttered rolls, split and toasted rolls, pop-overs or sandwiches made with unusual varieties of breads, are all good.

This is one festivity when the hostess may serve as elaborate a dessert as she pleases. A heavy meal has not preceded dessert, it's early in the evening and it's a grown-up party, so children need not be considered.

The following menu will suggest others to you:
Casseroles of Rice and Mushrooms

Split and Toasted Rolls
Jellied Pineapple and White Grape
Salad

Frozen Layer Cakes
Salted Nuts Coffee

Both the salad and dessert are made early in the day and kept on ice until wanted.

The casseroles of rice and mushrooms is made with canned mushrooms and canned tomato soup. It is made and ready to serve before the guests arrive and can be kept hot almost indefinitely.

FROZEN LAYER CAKE

One pint whipping cream, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 3 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 4 tablespoons strawberry or raspberry jam, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 square bitter chocolate, 4 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons boiling water, sponge cake.

If a spring form mold is available, bake a plain sponge cake in it. When cool cut in four layers and put one layer back in mold. If not, line a mold with a layer of sponge cake. Continue layer for layer of cake and cream, filling until all is used, making the last layer of cake. Cover with waxed paper and cover and pack in four parts ice to two parts salt. Let stand five or six hours. Pour off brine and add more ice and salt about two hours before serving.

To make the cream filling, soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve over hot water. Beat cream until stiff, gradually adding powdered sugar. Strain gelatin into whipped cream and mix lightly. Divide cream into three parts. Flavor one with vanilla, another with jam rubbed through a sieve and mixed with lemon juice, and the third with chocolate melted over hot water and combined with sugar and hot water. Cover first layer of cake with chocolate cream, second with vanilla, and third with jam.

Seattle, Jan. 20.—Fears as to the safety of the freighter North Pacific, which was reported taking water in her after holds Saturday night were allayed today by the receipt of a message that the ship was undamaged after battling heavy weather.

The message, relayed by the United States coast guard cutter Snohomish, said:

"Ship has no casualties, only very bad weather passage."

The freighter, which was bound from Auckland, N.Z., to Vancouver, B.C., was approaching the Strait of Juan de Fuca. She was about 340 miles off Cape Flattery Saturday night when the message reporting water in her holds was received by the Seattle harbor radio station.

U.S. COAST GUARD WILL WATCH SHIPS

Chelan and Unalga to Patrol Alaska Waters During Halibut Season

Will Attempt to Prevent Fishing Boat Disasters, Which Last Year Cost 25 Lives

Seattle, Jan. 20.—For the first time in the history of the North Pacific coastguard, the United States coastguard this year will establish a patrol of mercy ships on the fishing banks in an effort to prevent a recurrence of the last two disastrous seasons when twenty-five fishermen were swallowed up by storm-swept seas.

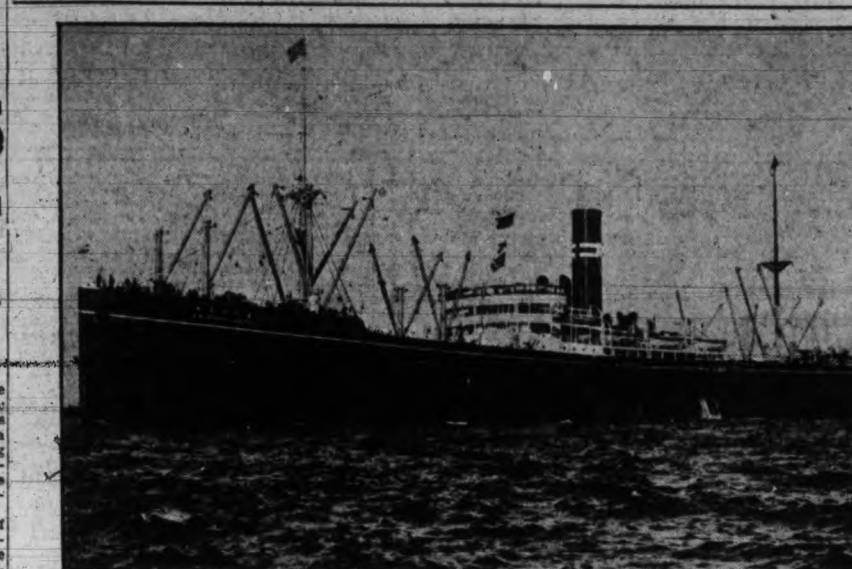

Capt. H. D. Hinkley, commander of the northwestern division of the coastguard, announced Saturday that the cutter Chelan, Commander R. W. Dempsey, will leave Seattle February 10 and will arrive on the Alaska fishing banks February 14, ready to be a mother ship for the big fleet of schooners that will begin operations with the opening of the halibut fishing season February 16.

UNALGA WILL ASSIST

The cutter Unalga, Lieutenant N. M. ... with station at Juneau, will assist Chelan in patrolling the fishing banks. The two cutters have been assigned to this duty until March 20, when the stormy season usually ends. The North Pacific fishing fleet comprises 450 vessels representing an investment of $2,000,000.

Captain Hinkley yesterday ordered the cutter Redwing to Astoria in an effort to rescue ships caught in the ice in the Columbia River. The Redwing had been cruising off the coast, and the cutter Snohomish replaced the Redwing in patrol service. The most severe ice jam in the river is near Warrenton, where at least one ship is said to be in a perilous position.

Pratique May Be Gained In Royal Roads

In thick weather only, the quarantine officials at William Head will give pratique in the Royal Roads, off the entrance to Esquimalt Harbor, an official notice received in Victoria this morning from A. Johnston, Deputy Minister of Marine at Ottawa, announced.

this measure was taken as a result of recent grounding of the Empress of Canada on October 13 last, while trying to find their way into William Head in dense fogs.

On account of difficulty in finding anchorage in thick weather off William Head, the quarantine station and in Parry Bay, owing to deep water close inshore, the quarantine service will give pratique in the Royal Roads, if so desired, but in thick weather only, the police roads.

Those requiring pratique should inform the quarantine station by radio as to their expected time of arrival at the station, and the master wishes to use the Royal Roads, the ship should whistle in close enough to make her fog whistle heard at quarantine, and then proceed to Royal Roads and anchor. The quarantine officers will follow and give pratique there.

It frequently occurs that while thick weather may prevail in Juan de Fuca Strait, clear weather is found northward of Race Rocks.

OVERDUE FISH BOAT IS FOUND

British Columbia Schooner, Missing Four Days, Found on San Juan Island

Vancouver, Jan. 20.—After being missing for more than four days, the British Columbia fishing schooner Qualicum L. of Chemainus and her crew of three men were found yesterday near the south end of San Juan Island in Haro Strait. The vessel's engine was disabled and her cargo of herring had been lost overboard. She will be towed to Chemainus.

Coastguard picket boats and cannery vessels had been searching for the Qualicum. It was feared she might have foundered in Monday's storm which swept the Sound and Strait.

PRINCESS NORAH WILL TAKE TRIP TO WEST COAST

Princess Marguerite Will Enter Night Service Between Victoria-Vancouver

The Princess Norah will take the sailing to the west coast of Vancouver Island tomorrow morning, replacing the Princess Maquinna which is now on the marine railway at the V.M.D. plant in the upper inner harbor for repairs following her touching a rock in Matilda Creek on the west coast last trip. The Princess Norah has been operating in the Alaska route since November and has proved a popular ship on that run. She will be put back in the Skagway service after the completion of her coastwise trip to the west coast. Taking the place of the Princess Norah will be the Princess Mary, which will sail from Vancouver on Thursday night at 9 o'clock for Alaska and northern British Columbia ports.

Lord Willingdon and Tribe Exchange Gifts

A bronze plate bearing an inscription to commemorate the visit of Viscount Willingdon to the West Coast of Vancouver Island last April is now in the Victoria office of W. E. Ditchburn, Commissioner of Indian Affairs for British Columbia, waiting to be taken to Nootka where it will be put on an ancient totem pole at Friendly Cove by T. S. Campbell of the Canadian National Railways engineering staff.

Mr. Campbell is expected in Victoria shortly from Hazelton and will leave for the West Coast in February to install the plate on the totem pole.

This ancient pole, on which is depicted characters and figures depicting the life and history of the tribe, presented to Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon last April when they visited the West Coast of the Island aboard the new Canadian Pacific coast steamer Princess Norah, on that vessel's first trip to the coast. At Friendly Cove the Indians prepared a welcome to the distinguished visitors who were presented with the pole as a token of respect and esteem from the Nootka tribe. Lord Willingdon graciously accepted the gift and arrangements were made to move it to the gardens of Rideau Hall, the official residence of the Governor-General.

Later, however, it was decided to leave the totem at Friendly Cove, on account of the great historical value attached to it. The Department of Indian Affairs then decided that the incident should be commemorated and the following inscription will be put on the pole, framed in a bronze plate sixteen inches by twenty-four: "This totem pole was presented to His Excellency Lord Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada, on the occasion of his visit to Friendly Cove by the sub-chief, Captain Jack. In grateful acceptance of the gift, Lord Willingdon requested the sub-chief to allow the pole to remain in its present site and to be cared for by the Nootka Indians in recognition of the first visit paid by a Governor-General to Friendly Cove and to the West Coast of Vancouver Island in April, 1929."

Lord and Lady Willingdon were personally very grateful to Chief Jack and the tribe for their generous present, the most valuable and historical that they could give. So on their return to Ottawa, Their Excellencies personally picked out a handsome gold watch and chain and sent it to Mr. Ditchburn, asking him to have it presented to the chief. The presentation was made last month by Rev. Victor Rassel, principal of Christie Memorial School at Clayoquot. The watch was inscribed as follows: "To Chief Jack from His Excellency the Governor-General, G.B.E., G.C.S.I., G.M.C.G.I.E., Governor-General of Canada, to commemorate his visit to Nootka, April, 1929." Chief Jack was greatly pleased with his gift and the beautiful watch, the finest ever seen on the coast, was inspected by all the Indians present at the ceremony and since that time has been admired by countless natives up and down the coast.
